Area C of C Arranges Reappraisal Talk

Public Is Invited on 27th Date

Property Expert Had Troy Tax Job

A goal of 600 paid members, with a budget to match, was approved by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. This action was taken at a well-attended meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which President J. Ellis Briggs presided.

April 27 was set as the tentative date of the annual open membership business meeting. The speaker will be Martin B. Stack of Troy. Mr. Stack is now clerk of Rensselaer county but was directly concerned with the reappraisal of all property values in Troy for tax purposes. He had a great deal of direct experience in this field and will discuss the controversial problem of reassessments, outlining some of the problems involved, as well as some of the advantages. The talk will be followed by a question period.

THE PUBLIC is invited to the April 27 meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel and to participate in a discussion of the important and timely topic of tax assessments. President Briggs, Vice-President N. Jansen Fowler and Executive-Secretary Albert Kurdt will discuss Chamber activities, past, present and future at the meeting.

An outline for the membership campaign was presented by George Silkworth, chairman of the membership committee. The plan as approved includes the usual renewal procedure for active members and May 3 was designated as Chamber Membership Day. On this day a committee of 35 workers will conduct an intensive drive for 100 new members. The fiscal year starts May 1.

THE POLICY regarding duplicate memberships and voting was also clarified. The by-laws limit the number of votes by any firm to four regardless of the number of memberships subscribed at $25 each. The new membership application blanks will provide for the listing of one representative for each membership subscribed regardless of the number. All those named will appear on all membership lists and be eligible to be nominated as directors. When nominating and election ballots

Kilgore Asks Inquiry To Meet Corsi Demand

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Sen. Kilgore (D.-W. Va.) said today he agrees there should be an inquiry by Congress into operations of the Refugee Relief Act, as demanded by Edward J. Corsi and promised by Sen. Langer (R.-N. D.).

Langer announced last night that a judiciary subcommittee on immigration which he heads will "conduct a full and complete" inquiry to see how the program is working He said he hoped to work out detailed plans at a subcommittee meeting this afternoon.

Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) meanwhile asked Secretary of State Dulles to explain security aspects of his ouster of Corsi as a State Department adviser on refugee problems.

SEN. AIKEN (R.-Vt.), however, said in an interview that while the Corsi case might have been "mishandled," he thinks "there was nothing else Secretary Dulles could do."

"I think the secretary probably realized he was faced with an impossible situation, with the House (Judiciary) Committee opposed to Corsi," Aiken said.

Rep. Walter (D.-Pa.), chairman of a House judiciary subcommitte on immigration, has said Corsi once belonged to or-

Garment Workers Urging Congress To Vote $1.25 Pay

Local 259, International Ladies Garment Workers Union, last night adopted at a meeting in its quarters, 277 Fair street, a resolution urging Congress to raise the federal minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

The union revealed today also that it had started a petition drive last week to gain more backing for the proposal, and members are sending cards to area representatives in Congress asking their support of the better minimum wage.

THE RESOLUTION adopted last night noted that "prices and the cost of living are at such a high level that the 75-cents-an-hour minimum wage is totally out of date."

Wages of millions of workers, it said, "have not kept up with the cost of living, and the national economy would benefit if consumers had increased purchasing power. If more people could buy suits, dresses, blouses, and fashion knitwear that the members of the International Ladies Garment Workers make, we would have fuller employment."

The resolution also held that "A realistic minimum wage would provide a floor under wages, making it unprofitable for employers to seek cheap labor in other parts of the country," and it said that "The President's proposal of 90 cents an hour falls far short of the country's need, and is unrealistic in

New York, April 13 (AP)—Ideas on how women can be better leaders in their communities have won four-year scholarships to Elmira College for three 17-year-old high school girls.

The winners, picked yesterday at a three-day forum of the college, are:

Columbia to Give Coykendall Medal

Posthumous Award to Be Conferred On Native Kingstonian by College

Frederick Coykendall, a native of Kingston who was chairman of the Columbia University Board of Trustees from 1933 until his death last Nov. 18, will receive posthumously today the Alexander Hamilton Medal, the highest alumni honor of Columbia College.

According to a university announcement, a representative of Mr. Coykendall's family will receive the award.

THE CEREMONY is scheduled to take place at 5 p. m., today in the Columbia University Club, 4 East 43rd street.

Born in Kingston Nov. 23, 1872, the son of the late Samuel Decker and Mary Augusta Cornell Coykendall, the former university trustee chairman was widely known throughout the state for his connections in the shipping industry as well as his work at Columbia.

MR. COYKENDALL received his early education at Ulster Academy and Columbia Grammar School in New York and entered Columbia College in 1891 where he received the AB degree in 1895, graduating with Phi Beta Kappa honors. In 1897 he received degrees of civil engineering and master of arts.

He became secretary of the Cornell Steamboat Company in 1879, manager in 1900 and was elevated to the presidency in 1913. He had also served as vice-president and a director of Duttons, Inc., and was vice-president and a director of the old Rhinecliff and Kingston Ferry Co.

DURING HIS active career at Columbia, Mr. Coykendall officiated at the installation of two of the university's presidents, proffering the historic charters and keys to President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he assumed the presidency of the university in 1948 and again to Dr. Grayson Kirk, who became president in 1953.

In 1926, Mr. Coykendall received the Class of 1889 gold medal for achievement at Columbia and in 1940 Hamilton College awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Banks Here Reflecting Prosperity

Deposits in Area Hit $126,004,000

New York, April 13 (Special)—Residents of Ulster county are continuing to "stash it away" for a rainy day. As a whole, they are "well heeled," with more money at their finger tips than they ever had before.

The story is told in the biennial report of the Federal Reserve System, showing bank deposits for every county in the United States.

AS OF THE CLOSE of the last fiscal year, the combined deposits in Ulster county savings and commercial banks came to $126,004,000, as compared with the $109,545,000 on deposit two years earlier. The figure includes time and demand deposits of individuals, partnerships and corporations and excludes interbank and governmental deposits.

It represents, on a per capita basis, $1,315 on deposit for every man, woman and child in Ulster county. This is more than is in the bank, per person, elsewhere in the nation, the average, excluding the New York financial center, being $854. It is more, also, than the Middle Atlantic States' holdings of $1,035 per capita.

GOVERNMENT officials and economists consider big savings a key factor in the nation's economic health. They represent, it is felt, a large volume of potential buying power that can exert

Costlier School for Katrine Awaits Action by Voters

A meeting of the residents of Union Free School District, No. 4, Lake Katrine, was held last evening at Grange Hall for the purpose of discussing the school situation and informing the people of the district as to the probable future action to be taken.

Last January a $396,000 bond issue for erection of a Kindergarten-sixth grade school was voted. Bids were sought and when opened last week it was found the general contract exceeded the estimate of the architect by some $125,000.

The meeting last evening, principally for discussion of the situation, was attended by about 30 residents of the district and the situation was gone over and explained. It was stated that to complete the building and grounds would require an additional $125,000 if present plans are to be carried out. The proposal was advanced that either additional moneys would have to be voted by the district or the plans altered and some of the present facilities eliminated.

It was the opinion of the meeting that the proposition of an increased bond issue should be submitted to the voters, rather than eliminate any facilities.

Stevenson Speech May Give Impetus to Talks

Washington, April 13 (AP)—A number of foreign diplomats viewed Adlai E. Stevenson's Far Eastern speech today as giving President Eisenhower more room for diplomatic maneuvering toward a peaceful settlement in the Formosa Strait.

State Department officials, taking their cue from Secretary Dulles, were guarded in their comments. But those willing to talk privately agreed the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee's address would give added impetus to diplomatic talks on the problem.

MEANWHILE, it was learned that the State Department has discussed with New Zealand the possibility of a new move within the United Nations.

The idea, which apparently has now been shelved, would have New Zealand introduce in the UN Security Council a resolution to denounce the use of force in the Formosa area.

IN DIPLOMATIC talks, Britain is reported to have advised against any such move now. The British apparently felt any effort to revive UN consideration of the Formosa problem should wait until after next week's 28-nation Afro-Asian conference in Indonesia.

The Formosa situation is expected to play a big role in these talks, with Red China and perhaps India leading attacks against the American policy of support for Nationalist China.

Salk Fight On Polio Speeds Up

Hilleboe Lauds New York Tests

(By The Associated Press)

Doctors and health officials in communities across the nation, cheered by success of the Salk vaccine, today turned to the huge task of inoculating millions of children against dread polio.

Most local inoculation programs were expected to get underway within about a week of yesterday's announcement that the vaccine was a safe and potent protection against the sometimes crippling and fatal disease.

FROM CITY after city came reports that inoculations were scheduled to start Monday or sometime during the following week. A number of cities however, said they did not expect to begin until early May.

The New York State Health Department plans to provide Salk polio-vaccine inoculation for at least 725,000—and posibly as many as 1,100,000—children before the end of the school year.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said yesterday that the results of last year's trial in New York state indicated a 75-per-cent reduction in paralytic polio as a result of the Salk vaccine.

HE SAID at a news conference that the state would receive enough vaccine to administer 2,200,000 shots. That would be enough for a three-shot series for 725,000 children or a two-shot series for 1,100,000, he explained.

The commissioner said he and his staff were "satisfied" that two shots would do the job.

About 50 public health officers from counties in New York state met with Hilleboe at Albany last night to discuss details of administering the vaccine locally. Unofficial reports said the group supported the view that the initial vaccination series could be held to two shots.

REPORTERS were not admitted to the meeting. It was said that adoption of the two-injection program probably would depend on whether it was authorized under the licensing issued by the National Institute of Health.

Hillboe said at his news conference that the inoculations would begin as soon as the state received vaccine from the Na-

Ulster Will Get $56,245 Fuel Share

Ulster county will receive $56,245.41 as its share of state motor fuel tax receipts, State Comptroller Arthur Leavitt has announced in Albany.

A total of $2,271,015.45 will be sent to 57 counties outside of New York city. Distribution was made of $2,206,237.13 for the same quarter in 1954.

Two Ellenville Fires Cause $165,000 Loss

Two fires Tuesday afternoon in the Ellenville area kept the Ellenville departments busy and resulted in a total loss of some $165,000 to property.

Fire in a ventilator shaft in the kitchen of the Nevele Hotel did damage estimated at $15,000 but did not disrupt the routine at the hotel while the Robin Hood Inn Hotel on Leurenkill road about two miles south of Ellenville was destroyed with an estimated loss of $150,000.

Robert Hicks, an employe at Nevele Hotel just off Route 209 south of Ellenville, was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville suffering from smoke poisoning.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the Ellenville department was summoned to the Nevele where fire was burning in a ventilator shaft over the kitchen ranges. Kimble and Scoresby Hose Companies responded and the fire was confined to the kitchen section of the hotel and none of the 300 guests was disturbed. The blaze did not prevent serving the evening meal to the guest.

Just as the Nevele fire was being brought under control an alarm was received from the Robin Hood property, operated as a summer hotel by Rogow Brothers, Ellenville, bottled gas dealers who reside in Ellenville. Kimble and Scoresby as well as the Summitville fire department responded but found the hotel enveloped in flames.

Robin Hood Inn is located between Ellenville and Spring

Local Forum Scheduled On Polio Prevention

A forum on the present status of polio prevention and treatment, with emphasis on the Salk vaccine, and its importance to Kingston, will be held on Tuesday, April 19 at 8:45 p. m., in the Jewish Community Center on Wall street.

Participating on the panel are four men who are expertly qualified to discuss this timely subject. These include the following:

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, commissioner of health of Ulster county, whose topic will be "Health Aspects of Polio Vaccinations."

Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden, who will discuss "The Role of the Private Practitioner in Polio Vaccination."

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of Kingston City Laboratory speaking on "The Role of the School System in the Polio Vaccination Program."

Attorney William A. Kelly, president, Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, whose topic will be "What Does the Local Polio Chapter Offer to Polio Victims."

This round table discussion will be the first of a series on vital current topics, to be sponsored as a public service by the Kingston Jewish Community Center. The general public is invited to attend.

Property Owners Reminded Of Multiple Residence Law

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, issued a statement today reminding property owners of the urgency of provisions of the multiple residence law.

The law provides, he said, that in every dwelling "three stories or more in height there shall be at least two means of egress, accessible on the same story from each apartment or suite."

Owners of such buildings, he stressed, are urged to register at the office of the department of buildings at 25 East O'Reilly street near central fire station.

Registry blanks may be obtained by telephoning 6958. They will be mailed to those who apply by telephone, and when they are returned with required information, inspections will be made, and details as to location of an egress will be discussed by the building inspector with owners of multiple dwellings.

Ulster Will Get $56,245 Fuel Share

Ulster county will receive $56,245.41 as its share of state motor fuel tax receipts, State Comptroller Arthur Leavitt has announced in Albany.

A total of $2,271,015.45 will be sent to 57 counties outside of New York city. Distribution was made of $2,206,237.13 for the same quarter in 1954.

Costlier School for Katrine Awaits Action by Voters

A meeting of the residents of Union Free School District, No. 4, Lake Katrine, was held last evening at Grange Hall for the purpose of discussing the school situation and informing the people of the district as to the probable future action to be taken.

Last January a $396,000 bond issue for erection of a Kindergarten-sixth grade school was voted. Bids were sought and when opened last week it was found the general contract exceeded the estimate of the architect by some $125,000.

The meeting last evening, principally for discussion of the situation, was attended by about 30 residents of the district and the situation was gone over and explained. It was stated that to complete the building and grounds would require an additional $125,000 if present plans are to be carried out. The proposal was advanced that either additional moneys would have to be voted by the district or the plans altered and some of the present facilities eliminated.

It was the opinion of the meeting that the proposition of an increased bond issue should be submitted to the voters, rather than eliminate any facilities.

Local Forum Scheduled On Polio Prevention

A forum on the present status of polio prevention and treatment, with emphasis on the Salk vaccine, and its importance to Kingston, will be held on Tuesday, April 19 at 8:45 p. m., in the Jewish Community Center on Wall street.

Participating on the panel are four men who are expertly qualified to discuss this timely subject. These include the following:

Dr. Dudley Hargrave, commissioner of health of Ulster county, whose topic will be "Health Aspects of Polio Vaccinations."

Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden, who will discuss "The Role of the Private Practitioner in Polio Vaccination."

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of Kingston City Laboratory speaking on "The Role of the School System in the Polio Vaccination Program."

Attorney William A. Kelly, president, Ulster County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, whose topic will be "What Does the Local Polio Chapter Offer to Polio Victims."

This round table discussion will be the first of a series on vital current topics, to be sponsored as a public service by the Kingston Jewish Community Center. The general public is invited to attend.

Property Owners Reminded Of Multiple Residence Law

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, issued a statement today reminding property owners of the urgency of provisions of the multiple residence law.

The law provides, he said, that in every dwelling "three stories or more in height there shall be at least two means of egress, accessible on the same story from each apartment or suite."

Owners of such buildings, he stressed, are urged to register at the office of the department of buildings at 25 East O'Reilly street near central fire station.

Registry blanks may be obtained by telephoning 6958. They will be mailed to those who apply by telephone, and when they are returned with required information, inspections will be made, and details as to location of an egress will be discussed by the building inspector with owners of multiple dwellings.

Two Ellenville Fires Cause $165,000 Loss

Two fires Tuesday afternoon in the Ellenville area kept the Ellenville departments busy and resulted in a total loss of some $165,000 to property.

Fire in a ventilator shaft in the kitchen of the Nevele Hotel did damage estimated at $15,000 but did not disrupt the routine at the hotel while the Robin Hood Inn Hotel on Leurenkill road about two miles south of Ellenville was destroyed with an estimated loss of $150,000.

Robert Hicks, an employe at Nevele Hotel just off Route 209 south of Ellenville, was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital in Ellenville suffering from smoke poisoning.

Shortly after 6 o'clock the Ellenville department was summoned to the Nevele where fire was burning in a ventilator shaft over the kitchen ranges. Kimble and Scoresby Hose Companies responded and the fire was confined to the kitchen section of the hotel and none of the 300 guests was disturbed. The blaze did not prevent serving the evening meal to the guest.

Just as the Nevele fire was being brought under control an alarm was received from the Robin Hood property, operated as a summer hotel by Rogow Brothers, Ellenville, bottled gas dealers who reside in Ellenville. Kimble and Scoresby as well as the Summitville fire department responded but found the hotel enveloped in flames.

Robin Hood Inn is located between Ellenville and Spring

Promotes Maple Industry

Albany, April 13 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today urged New Yorkers to help promote the maple products industry of the state. Harriman, noting that April 18-25 would be "Maple Products Week," said the industry played an important role in the state's urban and rural economy.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The change in the weather, the reduced war tensions, and the cheerful news from business reports, all add to a propitious start for the second quarter of 1955.

About the only immediate jarring note is the tax deadline on the 15th. While the lawmakers have given us all a bit of a break on our taxes they are still so stiff as to make April 15 a date we shall be pleased to see in the background.

What is an additional worry is the habit lawmakers have got into of thinking of all sorts of social benefits to hitch onto our taxes.

The graduated income tax, of itself, is a "social" enactment, because it soaks people according to their incomes. It has become an "equalizer." Socialists are strong advocates of taking from the well-to-do to spread among the less-well-to-do.

This sounds well but as in all socialist schemes it works better on paper than in actual practice. Down through the ages it has been demonstrated again and again that for the well being of all the people, a nation requires an expanding (not a shrinking) wealthy class. The more rich people a nation produces the better off is everyone. America is, of course, the prime example of this economic fact. No nation on earth has produced as much wealth in so short a period of time as has been purchased in the United States since its founding less than two centuries ago.

Likewise, no nation has produced a higher standard for all its people.

Yet, in the face of this vast achievement, there are countless people in America today who would further stifle the spirit of enterprise and ambition by destroying incentive through the power of tax.

However, let's not dwell upon it. It comes to mind now because so many of us have been engaged in filling out those puzzling forms sent to us by the Revenue Department, and by our State Tax departments. (Some of you readers, however, are spared this problem of making out your state income tax. You are indeed fortunate, but no doubt other taxes in your state make up for the saving you have in your income taxes).

As we are about to hear congressional debates on the armed forces and the necessary expenditures which will continue to confront us because of the dangers of war, the Ruminator couldn't help but be impressed by something cynically remarked by Upton Close in his little "letter" called "Close-Up." Let us understand, writes Close, that "the only sound reason for going to war is to protect our own vital interests; not to make the world safe for communism." He then reprints a rather famous letter written by Sidney Smith, English clergyman, to the British prime minister's wife in the 1830's:

"For God's sake, do not drag me into another war! I am worn down and worn out with crusading and defending Europe and mankind. I MUST think a little of myself. I am sorry for the Spaniards; I am sorry for the Greeks; I deplore the fate of the Jews; the people of the Sandwich Islands are groaning under the most detestable tyranny; Bagdad is oppressed; I do not like the present state of the Delta; Thibet is not comfortable.

"Am I to fight for all these people? The world is bursting with sin and sorrow.

We have just done saving Europe and I am afraid the consequences will be that we shall cut each other's throats. No war, dear Lady Grey! No eloquence; but apathy, selfishness, common sense, and arithmatic. I beseech you, secure Lord Grey's swords and pistols, as the housekeeper did Don Quizote's armor. . . ."

It is entertaining and informative to read things of this kind once in a while, if only to remind ourselves that other problems at other times confused the populace and thinking people as do our problems today.

Unfortunately, no philosopher has yet explained why it is that in the history of the world there have been many more years when wars persisted than there have been years of universal peace. This thought occurs to millions at the Easter season, but the answer remains shrouded in the mysteries of human behavior.

When you review the wars we have entered, since 1917, and the results we have gained, you are inclined to share Sidney Smith's appeal of a century and a quarter ago, and to agree that perhaps the only policy we should adopt here in America is to fight only to protect our vital interest, as Close says. However, this becomes an "isolationist creed" and most unpopular today. Is there truly any other policy for the long run?

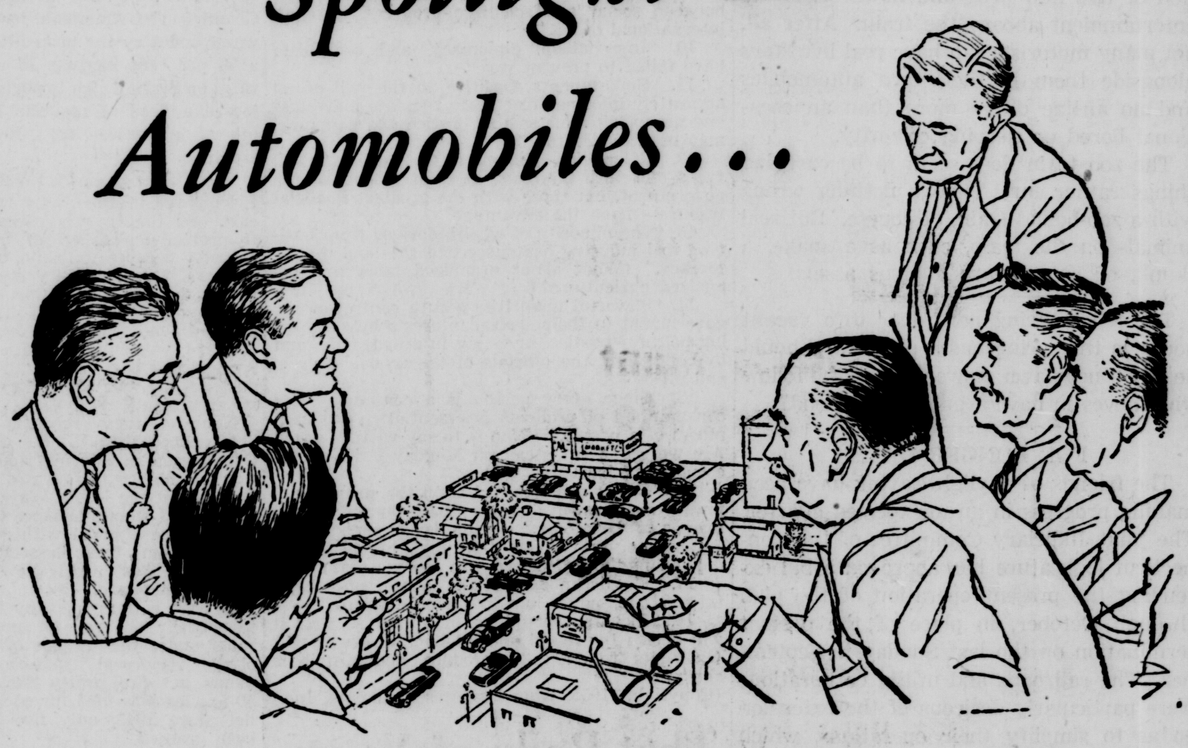
Spotlight on Automobiles...



Salute to Kingston's franchised new car dealers

The franchised new car dealers of Kingston are business neighbors and friends. Their value to the community is surpassed by none, for they offer essential transportation.

Today, we can live as near to, or as far from, the heart of things as we choose. Today we shop, work and vacation with greater convenience than ever before.

And the economic health of the business community depends on this. Were it not for that mobility there would be fewer shops, less of all things available, fewer jobs, and less prosperity.

The franchised new car dealer is a local businessman. He is an independent merchant. His employees are members of the local community. His payroll and much of his business purchasing helps support local business. He sells the cars we want and need, and he invests large sums for the equipment to maintain them.

Kingston's franchised new car dealers urge that you visit them during this week of "Spotlight on Automobiles" to get better acquainted.

Spotlight on Automobiles...

Salute to Kingston's franchised new car dealers

The franchised new car dealers of Kingston are business neighbors and friends. Their value to the community is surpassed by none, for they offer essential transportation.

Today, we can live as near to, or as far from, the heart of things as we choose. Today we shop, work and vacation with greater convenience than ever before.

And the economic health of the business community depends on this. Were it not for that mobility there would be fewer shops, less of all things available, fewer jobs, and less prosperity.

The franchised new car dealer is a local businessman. He is an independent merchant. His employees are members of the local community. His payroll and much of his business purchasing helps support local business. He sells the cars we want and need, and he invests large sums for the equipment to maintain them.

Kingston's franchised new car dealers urge that you visit them during this week of "Spotlight on Automobiles" to get better acquainted.

BOLD RAILROADING

The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad now runs show trains to operas and Broadway hits with stars along performing for the passengers. It runs sports trains to baseball games and fights, with well-known athletes as entertainment.

Now it's about to run a zoo train. This time it will feature animals for the edification of the passengers who, it is expected, will be mainly small fry.

The idea behind all this is to lure extra riders by offering attractions that no other mode of transportation can give. In the case of theatre and sports trains, the railroad sells tickets for the event one is traveling to as well as for the ride. It even arranges dinner parties. The main attraction of this new program, however, is the entertainment aboard the train. After all, not many motorists can have real live stars alongside them in their own automobiles and no airline offers more than an occasional bored or sleeping celebrity.

The zoo train does seem to be carrying things rather far. There's nothing wrong with a zoo-bound train, of course. But real animals on the train, such as a snake, a skunk, or possum are dubious assets.

The fellow living next door to a vacant house in the spring has a problem. Should he buy a new lawn mower or will the fellow who moves in have a good one to lend?

FOR LONGER DAYS

The friends of daylight-saving have been making progress in an unexpected quarter. The joint Judiciary Committee of the Connecticut legislature has approved a bill extending the present operation of the plan through October, in place of the present termination on the last Sunday in September. The railroads and utility corporations were particularly desirous of the extension so as to simplify their operations, which extend to New York and Massachusetts.

A few years ago Connecticut was reputed to be vehemently opposed to daylight saving. Its legislature, whose apportionment gives the small towns inordinate representation, at one time is said to have forbidden any clock on public display to show other than standard time. The state seems to have got beyond that now.

New York and New Jersey have also voted to extend daylight saving, though the New Jersey Senate would make its action contingent on similar action by Pennsylvania and Delaware.

At any rate the city dwellers, who generally like daylight saving, appear to be getting their innings. Usually in state legislatures the victory is to the rural inhabitants, some of whom find the system troublesome.

There are some men we know who would be quick to form a henpicked club, except that their wives won't let them.

SCATTERED DOCUMENTS

It seems to be a settled policy that the papers of former presidents go, not to the Library of Congress, as they did formerly, but to their own home towns. President Hoover's papers are in the Hoover War Library at Palo Alto, Calif. President Roosevelt's are at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y. A library for the Truman papers will soon be constructed at Independence, Mo. Now Kansas is making preparations to receive the Eisenhower documents.

The President recently offered to deposit them at a site in Kansas if a suitable place could be found. Now a bill has been introduced in the Kansas legislature to purchase a site near Abilene, the President's boyhood home and the location of the Eisenhower museum.

All this is gratifying to local pride. It has the disadvantage of making future historians run from pillar to post to get the facts. These will recall with longing the day when all presidential papers, with a few exceptions, went to the Library of Congress at Washington.

EDUCATION IN VIRGINIA

While in Richmond, Virginia, some time ago, I picked up one of those local quarrels which have a national interest. The fight was between the State Department of Education and the "Richmond News Leader," which raised the issue of a pro-socialist direction in the school system.

To me, it was interesting how long it takes citizens and parents to discover what is being taught to their children. Take it one way or the other on any question, the responsibility for the upbringing of the child remains, in our civilization, with the parent who has every right to question the wisdom of the professional educator. If the parent cannot prevent the teacher from corrupting the mind and morals of the child—from the parents' point of view—he can withdraw the child from that particular school.

Perhaps that explains the expansion of the independent and parochial schools, parents going to the double cost of paying for public and for independent or parochial education in preference to permitting their children to go to schools which the parents find to be inadequate or even evil.

So the "Richmond News Leader" discovered a "Course of Study for Virginia Elementary Schools, Grades I-VII." This 553-page volume was first published in 1943 and has been used since.

The philosophic doctrine of Marxism is that man is a product of his environment and of the tools he uses for a livelihood. Whoever controls the environment controls the nature and character of man. Morals and ethics are thus determined solely by environmental materialistic circumstances.

Now, this course of study is designed for small children up to the age of 12 or 13, their most formative years. Here then are some excerpts from this course of study:

1. "Man's thinking grows out of his experience with individuals, groups, and nature." (What about books, philosophies, precepts?)

2. "Personal liberty is decreased as man increases his control of nature and society."

3. "Propaganda, usually, is an instrument in the hands of a dominating class or other group for advocating selfish interests." (See "Communist Manifesto" on the class struggle.)

4. "Persons do not become a democratic group simply because they live in physical proximity or work for the same end."

5. "Individuals compose a democratic society when all members understand and are interested in the common purpose of the group and regulate their activities accordingly."

6. "Democracy dignifies work and makes all values available to the common man."

7. "Individuals and powerful minorities have always sought to control and to subjugate the masses."

8. "Many of the significant movements of history have been caused by man's effort to throw off the yoke of oppression and slavery."

9. "Economic imperialism, nationalism, the lag between social and scientific progress, threaten international order."

10. "Imperialism, diplomacy, and capitalism have failed to prevent war."

11. "Governments sensitive to the will of an accurately informed electorate regulate individual and group initiative so that justice and happiness may be extended to all."

12. "Minorities, organized for advancing all types of selfish interests, attempt to control the government, but those with the greatest financial resources have the advantage."

13. "The minority of wealth derived from business and industry has succeeded the landed aristocracy." (What about organized labor and organized agriculture?)

14. "Powerful minorities secure control of the government in their special interests by subsidizing political parties, investing in propaganda, and by controlling the officials of the school, church, and press."

15. "Since every person is a consumer, wise consumption of products is essential to the happiness of a people." (Who is to say what is wise? Are we all to eat steak on Monday if we prefer corned-beef hash?)

16. "Capitalism is based upon the principle of profit to the owner rather than service to the masses of the people." (Is the development of the automobile, the refrigerator, etc., by mass production methods, a service to the masses?)

17. "The dependence of the laborer upon capital tends to reduce him to a servile status."

18. "Industry should be organized so that it will enrich the moral and intellectual life of all." (Isn't its function to produce and distribute goods?)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CANCER OF THE PROSTATE

It may come as a surprise to learn just how common carcinoma (cancer) of the prostate is among our male population. We are told that approximately 15 per cent of all men over the age of 55 who have had post mortem examination have been shown to have definite cancer of the prostate although it may not have been causing noticeable symptoms in all cases. It also has been shown that about 20 to 25 per cent of all patients who need treatment for obstruction of the neck of the bladder have cancer of the prostate.

What can be done for these cases? At present the most effective type of treatment is surgical removal of the disease in its early stages. Unfortunately, the cancer starts in the outer part of the prostate in 19 out of 20 cases so that the symptoms of obstruction of the bladder neck and other symptoms due to cancer do not occur early. The symptoms occur late in the disease when the tumor has progressed to the urethra (canal through which the urine is discharged), distorting it and interfering with urination, or when the tumor has spread and causes pain.

How can we discover cancer of the prostate early enough? "Early diagnosis can be made only by means of routine examination of the rectum and study of any suspicious areas found." If such a suspicious area is found, the patient is under 70 and in good physical condition, Xray films should be made to make sure that the trouble is not a little calcified lump or stone. If none is found and if there is no pus in the urine or a tenderness over the area which may be due to some infection going on which should clear up within the course of a week or two of proper treatment, then the further step of biopsy should be considered. Biopsy is obtaining a small section of the suspetced tissue and examining it under microscope for cancer cells.

Once the definite diagnosis of cancer is made, surgical removal of all or part of the prostate is considered the best treatment in those 70 or younger and in good physical condition. There are certain disadvantages to this operation which the surgeon will explain, nevertheless it is the best means of preserving life in these cases that we know of so far.

In those patients in whom the tumor has spread beyond the borders of prostate, cure is rarely obtained but they can be helped by removing as much of the tumor as possible and then using various X-ray treatment.

Treatment by gland substances such as stilbestrol is often used along with both surgery and X-ray treatment as in some patients it apparently slows up the growth of the cancer.

The important thing to remember for men of middle age is to have routine physical examinations, always including rectal examination, every six months so that any beginning cancer may be caught at as early a stage as possible.

There'll Always Be a Loose One

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Granting the American jeweled watch industry the protection of a 50 per cent increase in tariff rates on Swiss watch imports has loosed a flood of requests from other industries for similar treatment.

The reason given by President Eisenhower in the Swiss watch case was that it was necessary to protect the American watch industry because the skills of its workers were necessary for national defense production. But makers of lace, producers of garlic, lead pencils, work gloves, underware, women's handbags and string think they're essential industries, too, and would like similar treatment.

None of these requests has yet reached the U. S. Tariff Commission as a formal application for higher tariff rates. But hearings of the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees are studded with statements from trade association representatives, telling how important they are.

If past actions are any measure, their chances for getting relief under the "escape clause" of the reciprocal trade agreements act are pretty slim. Of 59 applications filed for such relief since 1948, only five have been granted.

They were on women's fur felt hats, hatters' fur, dried figs, alsike clover seed and Swiss watches.

Only the last of these was granted as a defense essential industry.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER NOW HAS on his desk a Tariff Commission report on the U. S. bicycle industry's application for tariff relief. His action on this case is expected soon.

Nine other applications for escape clause relief have been recommended by the Tariff Commission but turned down by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. They were on garlic, tobacco pipes, scissors, ground fish fillets, lead and zinc, hand blown glass, spring clothespins, screen printed silk scarves and wood screws.

Hardwood plywood and red fescue clover cases are now in Tariff Commission hearings.

The Swiss watch application was turned down by President Truman in 1952 but approved by President Eisenhower last year. That was what gave everybody else the idea of using this "defense essentially" gimmick to get tariff boosts.

C. T. Nissen and Horace B. Van Dorn of the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Assn. declared that "Black and colored pencils are indispensable operating supplies for every branch of the Armed forces. . . . The wood-cased pencil is a product which meets all the standards of essentiality laid down by the War Manpower Commission in World War II, except that it is not directly utilized for combat purposes."

ROY A. CHENEY, PRESIDENT OF the Underwear Institute says that: "If I were a subversive, I would not attack our supplies of airplanes, guns, ammunition, medicine or food. No matter what guns, ammunition or leadership you give an army, it can't fight without clothing."

The historic example Mr. Cheney gives is that after the Battle of the Bulge, General Eisenhower called on the underwear industry for delivery of 67 million undershirts in three months.

John T. Daly, Jr., of the Work Glove Industry thinks that it should have higher tariff protection because in World War 2: "Our industry shipped to the military over two million dozen pairs of work gloves."

The International Handbag, Luggage, Belt, and Novelty Workers Union, AFL states that "We cannot emphasize too strongly that our trade is essential. The armed forces of the U. S. during the last two wars, equipped the women's auxiliary branches of our military establishments with handbags as part and parcel of their standard garb, having found said containers indispensable."

CHARLES J. B. MOLITOR of the American Lace Manufacturers Assn. says: "During World War 2 we produced scores of millions of yards of camouflage and mosquito nettings for our armed forces and those of our allies."

But Mr. Molitor concludes somewhat ruefully: "Now that we have restored at least some ray of hope for American watch makers, we are about to jeapordize the jobs of workers in some 15 other industries."

These are the industries, like the lace makers, who may have to buck the competition of lowered tariffs on foreign products to compensate for the raised watch tariff.

With equal realism, J. M. Malkin of the Schiffli Lace and Embroidery Manufacturers Association says: "We are not a defense industry and we do not claim protection on that score. But we are important to the happiness of American women." And he wants a higher tariff for that.

Stevenson's Speech Considered All Politics at Critical Time for United States

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 12 — If Adlai Stevenson had contrived purposely to encourage the Communist Chinese to believe that America is disunited and that her allies are seriously at odds with her on Far Eastern policy, he could not have delivered a more convincing speech to that end than he did on Monday night.

For, while to many Americans the former presidential candidate would seem to have been motivated merely by domestic political considerations and by his own ambitions—which can be realized only by undermining the political popularity of President Eisenhower—the Red Chinese could well imagine that the speech represents the beginning of a retreat by the Democratic majority now in control of Congress.

ONLY A FEW weeks ago they voted solidly to support the resolution authorizing the President to use our military force to defend Formosa and "related positions and territories of that area." Is "bipartisanship" to be spelled differently now, with divisive speeches by partisans at a time of grave crisis in international affairs?

There are, of course, differences of opinion here and abroad over the extent to which the offshore islands—shall be defended. But the issue was thoroughly debated in Congress, and it would seem that Mr. Stevenson now is merely accentuating a difference that has already been resolved. For the Congress was informed that there was no intention on the part of the President to defend the offshore islands as such, but to defend them "only in situations which are recognizable as parts of, or definte preliminaries to, an attack" on Formosa.

THIS HAS BEEN made clear to members of Congress on the Democratic side, and especially to Sen. Walter George, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But now it would appear that Mr. Stevenson has publicly repudiated the leadership of the Georgia senator and prefers to go it alone in proclaiming what he believes should be the foreign policy of the Democratic party.

Mr. Stevenson, moreover, calls for a declaration by the Allied nations condemning the use of force in and around Formosa. This is predicated on the assumption that the Red Chinese will likewise refrain from using force. Sen. George favors the renunciation of the use of force in and around Formosa, and so does President Eisenhower, who has called for a cease-fire to be arranged by the UN. It is not Mr. Eisenhower or our allies who can regulate whether force shall be used. Only the Red Chinese can decide whether there is to be war in the Far East. Any pronouncements about United States policy should be left to the President of the United States to make.

THE SPEECH by the former Presidential candidate is full of contradictions so characteristic of many of his addresses. While, for example, he condemns the Eisenhower administration for not doing what it says, and for not meaning what it announces in its threat of "massive retaliation," Mr. Stevenson unfortunately chooses as his illustration the Allied retreat of Indochina. For this he blames America when he ought to know that the United States backed down from the use of force there because neither the French nor the British — our allies — would go along with us. Here was a case in which Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles did precisely what Mr. Stevenson now pleads should be done— namely, adopted an attitude deferential to the wishes of our allies. But having followed our allies, America is now blamed by Mr. Stevenson for the loss of Indochina. He certainly cannot have it both ways.

Mr. Stevenson's speech exhibits a greater concern for the feelings of the allies than it does for the feeling of the American people. This is probably due to a desire to make it appear that in foreign policy the Administration is inept and incompetent.

WHILE PROFESSING high motives himself, Mr. Stevenson accuses the administration of yielding to "considerations of domestic political expediency" in making its Far Eastern policies. There are critics inside the Republican party but fortunately they have not been in favor of appeasing the Communists, and are trying instead to keep the administration from yielding to those "peace at any price" elements in the Republican party which, like Mr. Stevenson, advocate withdrawal from the offshore islands.

Mr. Stevenson would, of course, wash his hands of any responsibility if the policy he advocates were really adopted. If, for example, after the United States withdrew moral support from the Nationalist government and a disintegration of morale developed on Formosa among the troops of Chiang Kai-shek—which Mr. Stevenson now significantly derides as "overage"—the titular leader of the Democratic party probably would not concede that, by his speech and proposals, he had helped to break down the morale of the Nationalist troops on Formosa, just as the Truman-Acheson administration did in pulling the rug from beneath Chiang Kai-shek's forces on the mainland of China in 1949.

Mr. Stevenson is rocking the boat at a critical time, and if his words are heeded by the Democratic majority in Congress, then America is headed for the era of chaos and divided government predicted by many observers last autumn. The American people during the campaign were promised cooperation by the Democrats in upholding the hands of the President, especially in foreign policy. But Mr. Stevenson evidently does not feel obligated now to see that this pledge is fulfilled.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

This is the proposition of all those who believe that the employer, including the national and lesser governments, should provide old-age pension accommodations for employes:

I am entitled to special privilege.

I am not competent to put aside a portion of my earnings as savings for my own senility. I lack the will power to deny myself luxuries and other extravagance. Therefore my employer, who is actually "the people," must deduct a portion of my pay each payday and keep it away from me so that I will not spend it wastefully.

The social security pensions established by Congress are not good enough for me, they are good enough for "the people" but I am better than "the people" and therefore deserve higher pension payments. These run as high as $75,000 in many private business corporations. In the government, they run as high as $450 a week. Congressmen, bureaucrats, judges, lawyers, income-tax fly cops, governors, mayors and taxconsumers of countless other descriptions are eligible for these pensions. In joining these pension systems, we endorse the proposition that "the people" are inferior creatures who have an obligation to contribute to our pensions and to guarantee them as a responsibility of the treasury. The savings of the people are not guaranteed.

When "the people" have saved a little money by self-denial and invest it in shares of big corporations, they are actually paying for the privilege of providing corporation executives and wage employes with an income when they fall sick or retire. No matter how badly the stock depreciates the employe's pension continues. "The people" may receive the sad news that there will be no dividends this quarter but they have to pay pensions out of the company's reserve. If it comes to the worst and the company's property is auctioned off at panic prices, the pensioners get first crack at the proceeds. This property is actually the property of the shareholders but the pension system gives the pensioners first crack. There may be nothing left and the shareholders may be wiped out. That would be very sad.

It is true that I pay a small contribution to the pension fund, whether I am a congressman, a judge or an employe of a private corporation. But it is also true that the taxpayers contribute to the government pension funds and the shareholders contribute to the corporation funds. However, the beneficiaries do not report these contributions in their income-tax returns. They certainly are income, accruing to their benefit and they are paid to their credit by their employers. If they die untimely, the benefits become "estate" for their heirs. But we call them "fringe-benefits."

Can you imagine Congress passing a law compelling congressmen to report their accumulating pensions right as income? There is no other way to bring them into the income-tax system and Congress will not do it, so it won't be done. That fact protects the employes of private corporations, whether $100,000-a-year executives or $20-a-day wage-earners, from taxation on their "fringes." If Congress decided to tax their "fringes," the same principle would bring congressional "fringes" within scope.

However, "the people" do pay income taxes on their compulsory contributions to public and corporate pensions. They are not deductible as charity donations or in any other guise. They amount to billions a year and appropriate income taxes on them would be a substantial contribution to the treasury.

Earl Warren, our chief justice, is entitled to a large pension from the state of California, which he served as governor and otherwise for many years. The state law prohibits disclosure to "the people" of the amount that he or any other beneficiary receives. There is no moral obligation on him to tell and frankly the law holds that it is none of "the people's" business.

However, you cannot keep such information absolutely secret and the fact is that Mr. Warren is "entitled" to a little less than $1000 a month, in addition to his $40,000 a year from the federal government, which also carries accumulating pension privileges. Whether he does draw the California pension "the people" of California are not allowed to know but there is no reason why he shouldn't. Why not? The law grants it to him. Secrecy makes for mystery and mystery makes for inaccuracy but it is a fact that Mr. Warren's "contribution" over the years was much less than one year's pension benefits.

The highest old-age pension for "the people" under Social Security is $162 a month but if a "client" of this "benefit" continues to earn by effort more than $2080 a year, he loses his $162 a month. The idea here was to prevent old people from taking little supplementary jobs as sitters, watchmen and what-not and thus forming a sort of coolie class doing petty chores for low wages and keeping younger people out of those jobs. However, a congressman or mayor who takes his big pension—$20,000 a year in the case of Vincent Impellitteri when his rights mature in a couple of years—is not forbidden to take another job. He can practice law or go on the radio or any old thing, and his $20,000 a year will go right on.

It is not as though "the people" had contributed nothing to their Social Security. We all know they do, of course. Their employers contribute, too, and there you have another "fringe benefit" which is tax-exempt.

But the gall is found in the fact that practically the entire roster of public employes and the corporation pension beneficiaries frankly look down on "the people" as suckers. The hell of it is that "the people" are.

A library for the Truman papers will soon be constructed at Independence, Mo. Now Kansas is making preparations to receive the Eisenhower documents.

The President recently offered to deposit them at a site in Kansas if a suitable place could be found. Now a bill has been introduced in the Kansas legislature to purchase a site near Abilene, the President's boyhood home and the location of the Eisenhower museum.

All this is gratifying to local pride. It has the disadvantage of making future historians run from pillar to post to get the facts. These will recall with longing the day when all presidential papers, with a few exceptions, went to the Library of Congress at Washington.

EDUCATION IN VIRGINIA

While in Richmond, Virginia, some time ago, I picked up one of those local quarrels which have a national interest. The fight was between the State Department of Education and the "Richmond News Leader," which raised the issue of a pro-socialist direction in the school system.

To me, it was interesting how long it takes citizens and parents to discover what is being taught to their children. Take it one way or the other on any question, the responsibility for the upbringing of the child remains, in our civilization, with the parent who has every right to question the wisdom of the professional educator. If the parent cannot prevent the teacher from corrupting the mind and morals of the child—from the parents' point of view—he can withdraw the child from that particular school.

Perhaps that explains the expansion of the independent and parochial schools, parents going to the double cost of paying for public and for independent or parochial education in preference to permitting their children to go to schools which the parents find to be inadequate or even evil.

So the "Richmond News Leader" discovered a "Course of Study for Virginia Elementary Schools, Grades I-VII." This 553-page volume was first published in 1943 and has been used since.

The philosophic doctrine of Marxism is that man is a product of his environment and of the tools he uses for a livelihood. Whoever controls the environment controls the nature and character of man. Morals and ethics are thus determined solely by environmental materialistic circumstances.

Now, this course of study is designed for small children up to the age of 12 or 13, their most formative years. Here then are some excerpts from this course of study:

1. "Man's thinking grows out of his experience with individuals, groups, and nature." (What about books, philosophies, precepts?)

2. "Personal liberty is decreased as man increases his control of nature and society."

3. "Propaganda, usually, is an instrument in the hands of a dominating class or other group for advocating selfish interests." (See "Communist Manifesto" on the class struggle.)

4. "Persons do not become a democratic group simply because they live in physical proximity or work for the same end."

5. "Individuals compose a democratic society when all members understand and are interested in the common purpose of the group and regulate their activities accordingly."

6. "Democracy dignifies work and makes all values available to the common man."

7. "Individuals and powerful minorities have always sought to control and to subjugate the masses."

8. "Many of the significant movements of history have been caused by man's effort to throw off the yoke of oppression and slavery."

9. "Economic imperialism, nationalism, the lag between social and scientific progress, threaten international order."

10. "Imperialism, diplomacy, and capitalism have failed to prevent war."

11. "Governments sensitive to the will of an accurately informed electorate regulate individual and group initiative so that justice and happiness may be extended to all."

12. "Minorities, organized for advancing all types of selfish interests, attempt to control the government, but those with the greatest financial resources have the advantage."

13. "The minority of wealth derived from business and industry has succeeded the landed aristocracy." (What about organized labor and organized agriculture?)

14. "Powerful minorities secure control of the government in their special interests by subsidizing political parties, investing in propaganda, and by controlling the officials of the school, church, and press."

15. "Since every person is a consumer, wise consumption of products is essential to the happiness of a people." (Who is to say what is wise? Are we all to eat steak on Monday if we prefer corned-beef hash?)

16. "Capitalism is based upon the principle of profit to the owner rather than service to the masses of the people." (Is the development of the automobile, the refrigerator, etc., by mass production methods, a service to the masses?)

17. "The dependence of the laborer upon capital tends to reduce him to a servile status."

18. "Industry should be organized so that it will enrich the moral and intellectual life of all." (Isn't its function to produce and distribute goods?)

That Body of Yours

CANCER OF THE PROSTATE

It may come as a surprise to learn just how common carcinoma (cancer) of the prostate is among our male population. We are told that approximately 15 per cent of all men over the age of 55 who have had post mortem examination have been shown to have definite cancer of the prostate although it may not have been causing noticeable symptoms in all cases. It also has been shown that about 20 to 25 per cent of all patients who need treatment for obstruction of the neck of the bladder have cancer of the prostate.

What can be done for these cases? At present the most effective type of treatment is surgical removal of the disease in its early stages. Unfortunately, the cancer starts in the outer part of the prostate in 19 out of 20 cases so that the symptoms of obstruction of the bladder neck and other symptoms due to cancer do not occur early. The symptoms occur late in the disease when the tumor has progressed to the urethra (canal through which the urine is discharged), distorting it and interfering with urination, or when the tumor has spread and causes pain.

How can we discover cancer of the prostate early enough? "Early diagnosis can be made only by means of routine examination of the rectum and study of any suspicious areas found." If such a suspicious area is found, the patient is under 70 and in good physical condition, Xray films should be made to make sure that the trouble is not a little calcified lump or stone. If none is found and if there is no pus in the urine or a tenderness over the area which may be due to some infection going on which should clear up within the course of a week or two of proper treatment, then the further step of biopsy should be considered. Biopsy is obtaining a small section of the suspected tissue and examining it under microscope for cancer cells.

Once the definite diagnosis of cancer is made, surgical removal of all or part of the prostate is considered the best treatment in those 70 or younger and in good physical condition. There are certain disadvantages to this operation which the surgeon will explain, nevertheless it is the best means of preserving life in these cases that we know of so far.

In those patients in whom the tumor has spread beyond the borders of prostate, cure is rarely obtained but they can be helped by removing as much of the tumor as possible and then using various X-ray treatment.

Treatment by gland substances such as stilbestrol is often used along with both surgery and X-ray treatment as in some patients it apparently slows up the growth of the cancer.

The important thing to remember for men of middle age is to have routine physical examinations, always including rectal examination, every six months so that any beginning cancer may be caught at as early a stage as possible.

There'll Always Be a Loose One

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Granting the American jeweled watch industry the protection of a 50 per cent increase in tariff rates on Swiss watch imports has loosed a flood of requests from other industries for similar treatment.

The reason given by President Eisenhower in the Swiss watch case was that it was necessary to protect the American watch industry because the skills of its workers were necessary for national defense production. But makers of lace, producers of garlic, lead pencils, work gloves, underware, women's handbags and string think they're essential industries, too, and would like similar treatment.

None of these requests has yet reached the U. S. Tariff Commission as a formal application for higher tariff rates. But hearings of the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees are studded with statements from trade association representatives, telling how important they are.

If past actions are any measure, their chances for getting relief under the "escape clause" of the reciprocal trade agreements act are pretty slim. Of 59 applications filed for such relief since 1948, only five have been granted.

They were on women's fur felt hats, hatters' fur, dried figs, alsike clover seed and Swiss watches.

Only the last of these was granted as a defense essential industry.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER NOW HAS on his desk a Tariff Commission report on the U. S. bicycle industry's application for tariff relief. His action on this case is expected soon.

Nine other applications for escape clause relief have been recommended by the Tariff Commission but turned down by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. They were on garlic, tobacco pipes, scissors, ground fish fillets, lead and zinc, hand blown glass, spring clothespins, screen printed silk scarves and wood screws.

Hardwood plywood and red fescue clover cases are now in Tariff Commission hearings.

The Swiss watch application was turned down by President Truman in 1952 but approved by President Eisenhower last year. That was what gave everybody else the idea of using this "defense essentially" gimmick to get tariff boosts.

C. T. Nissen and Horace B. Van Dorn of the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Assn. declared that "Black and colored pencils are indispensable operating supplies for every branch of the Armed forces. . . . The woodcased pencil is a product which meets all the standards of essentiality laid down by the War Manpower Commission in World War II, except that it is not directly utilized for combat purposes."

ROY A. CHENEY, PRESIDENT OF the Underwear Institute says that: "If I were a subversive, I would not attack our supplies of airplanes, guns, ammunition, medicine or food. No matter what guns, ammunition or leadership you give an army, it can't fight without clothing."

The historic example Mr. Cheney gives is that after the Battle of the Bulge, General Eisenhower called on the underwear industry for delivery of 67 million undershirts in three months.

John T. Daly, Jr., of the Work Glove Industry thinks that it should have higher tariff protection because in World War 2: "Our industry shipped to the military over two million dozen pairs of work gloves."

The International Handbag, Luggage, Belt, and Novelty Workers Union, AFL states that "We cannot emphasize too strongly that our trade is essential. The armed forces of the U. S. during the last two wars, equipped the women's auxiliary branches of our military establishments with handbags as part and parcel of their standard garb, having found said containers indispensable."

CHARLES J. B. MOLITOR of the American Lace Manufacturers Assn. says: "During World War 2 we produced scores of millions of yards of camouflage and mosquito nettings for our armed forces and those of our allies."

But Mr. Molitor concludes somewhat ruefully: "Now that we have restored at least some ray of hope for American watch makers, we are about to jeapordize the jobs of workers in some 15 other industries."

These are the industries, like the lace makers, who may have to buck the competition of lowered tariffs on foreign products, to compensate for the raised watch tariff.

With equal realism, J. M. Malkin of the Schiffli Lace and Embroidery Manufacturers Association says: "We are not a defense industry and we do not claim protection on that score. But we are important to the happiness of American women." And he wants a higher tariff for that.

Stevenson's Speech Considered All Politics at Critical Time for United States

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 12 — If Adlai Stevenson had contrived purposely to encourage the Communist Chinese to believe that America is disunited and that her allies are seriously at odds with her on Far Eastern policy, he could not have delivered a more convincing speech to that end than he did on Monday night.

For, while to many Americans the former presidential candidate would seem to have been motivated merely by domestic political considerations and by his own ambitions—which can be realized only by undermining the political popularity of President Eisenhower—the Red Chinese could well imagine that the speech represents the beginning of a retreat by the Democratic majority now in control of Congress.

ONLY A FEW weeks ago they voted solidly to support the resolution authorizing the President to use our military force to defend Formosa and "related positions and territories of that area." Is "bipartisanship" to be spelled differently now, with divisive speeches by partisans at a time of grave crisis in international affairs?

There are, of course, differences of opinion here and abroad over the extent to which the offshore islands—shall be defended. But the issue was thoroughly debated in Congress, and it would seem that Mr. Stevenson now is merely accentuating a difference that has already been resolved. For the Congress was informed that there was no intention on the part of the President to defend the offshore islands as such, but to defend them "only in situations which are recognizable as parts of, or definte preliminaries to, an attack" on Formosa.

THIS HAS BEEN made clear to members of Congress on the Democratic side, and especially to Sen. Walter George, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But now it would appear that Mr. Stevenson has publicly repudiated the leadership of the Georgia senator and prefers to go it alone in proclaiming what he believes should be the foreign policy of the Democratic party.

Mr. Stevenson, moreover, calls for a declaration by the Allied nations condemning the use of force in and around Formosa. This is predicated on the assumption that the Red Chinese will likewise refrain from using force. Sen. George favors the renunciation of the use of force in and around Formosa, and so does President Eisenhower, who has called for a cease-fire to be arranged by the UN. It is not Mr. Eisenhower or our allies who can regulate whether force shall be used. Only the Red Chinese can decide whether there is to be war in the Far East. Any pronouncements about United States policy should be left to the President of the United States to make.

THE SPEECH by the former Presidential candidate is full of contradictions so characteristic of many of his addresses. While, for example, he condemns the Eisenhower administration for not doing what it says, and for not meaning what it announces in its threat of "massive retaliation," Mr. Stevenson unfortunately chooses as his illustration the Allied retreat of Indochina. For this he blames America when he ought to know that the United States backed down from the use of force there because neither the French nor the British — our allies — would go along with us. Here was a case in which Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Dulles did precisely what Mr. Stevenson now pleads should be done— namely, adopted an attitude deferential to the wishes of our allies. But having followed our allies, America is now blamed by Mr. Stevenson for the loss of Indochina. He certainly cannot have it both ways.

Mr. Stevenson's speech exhibits a greater concern for the feelings of the allies than it does for the feeling of the American people. This is probably due to a desire to make it appear that in foreign policy the Administration is inept and incompetent.

WHILE PROFESSING high motives himself, Mr. Stevenson accuses the administration of yielding to "considerations of domestic political expediency" in making its Far Eastern policies. There are critics inside the Republican party but fortunately they have not been in favor of appeasing the Communists, and are trying instead to keep the administration from yielding to those "peace at any price" elements in the Republican party which, like Mr. Stevenson, advocate withdrawal from the offshore islands.

Mr. Stevenson would, of course, wash his hands of any responsibility if the policy he advocates were really adopted. If, for example, after the United States withdrew moral support from the Nationalist government and a disintegration of morale developed on Formosa among the troops of Chiang Kai-shek—which Mr. Stevenson now significantly derides as "overage"—the titular leader of the Democratic party probably would not concede that, by his speech and proposals, he had helped to break down the morale of the Nationalist troops on Formosa, just as the Truman-Acheson administration did in pulling the rug from beneath Chiang Kai-shek's forces on the mainland of China in 1949.

Mr. Stevenson is rocking the boat at a critical time, and if his words are heeded by the Democratic majority in Congress, then America is headed for the era of chaos and divided government predicted by many observers last autumn. The American people during the campaign were promised cooperation by the Democrats in upholding the hands of the President, especially in foreign policy. But Mr. Stevenson evidently does not feel obligated now to see that this pledge is fulfilled.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

This is the proposition of all those who believe that the employer, including the national and lesser governments, should provide old-age pension accommodations for employes:

I am entitled to special privilege.

I am not competent to put aside a portion of my earnings as savings for my own senility. I lack the will power to deny myself luxuries and other extravagance. Therefore my employer, who is actually "the people," must deduct a portion of my pay each payday and keep it away from me so that I will not spend it wastefully.

The social security pensions established by Congress are not good enough for me, they are good enough for "the people" but I am better than "the people" and therefore deserve higher pension payments. These run as high as $75,000 in many private business corporations. In the government, they run as high as $450 a week. Congressmen, bureaucrats, judges, lawyers, income-tax fly cops, governors, mayors and taxconsumers of countless other descriptions are eligible for these pensions. In joining these pension systems, we endorse the proposition that "the people" are inferior creatures who have an obligation to contribute to our pensions and to guarantee them as a responsibility of the treasury. The savings of the people are not guaranteed.

When "the people" have saved a little money by self-denial and invest it in shares of big corporations, they are actually paying for the privilege of providing corporation executives and wage employes with an income when they fall sick or retire. No matter how badly the stock depreciates the employe's pension continues. "The people" may receive the sad news that there will be no dividends this quarter but they have to pay pensions out of the company's reserve. If it comes to the worst and the company's property is auctioned off at panic prices, the pensioners get first crack at the proceeds. This property is actually the property of the shareholders but the pension system gives the pensioners first crack. There may be nothing left and the shareholders may be wiped out. That would be very sad.

It is true that I pay a small contribution to the pension fund, whether I am a congressman, a judge or an employe of a private corporation. But it is also true that the taxpayers contribute to the government pension funds and the shareholders contribute to the corporation funds. However, the beneficiaries do not report these contributions in their income-tax returns. They certainly are income, accruing to their benefit and they are paid to their credit by their employers. If they die untimely, the benefits become "estate" for their heirs. But we call them "fringe-benefits."

Can you imagine Congress passing a law compelling congressmen to report their accumulating pensions right as income? There is no other way to bring them into the income-tax system and Congress will not do it, so it won't be done. That fact protects the employes of private corporations, whether $100,000-a-year executives or $20-a-day wage-earners, from taxation on their "fringes." If Congress decided to tax their "fringes," the same principle would bring congressional "fringes" within scope.

However, "the people" do pay income taxes on their compulsory contributions to public and corporate pensions. They are not deductible as charity donations or in any other guise. They amount to billions a year and appropriate income taxes on them would be a substantial contribution to the treasury.

Earl Warren, our chief justice, is entitled to a large pension from the state of California, which he served as governor and otherwise for many years. The state law prohibits disclosure to "the people" of the amount that he or any other beneficiary receives. There is no moral obligation on him to tell and frankly the law holds that it is none of "the people's" business.

However, you cannot keep such information absolutely secret and the fact is that Mr. Warren is "entitled" to a little less than $1000 a month, in addition to his $40,000 a year from the federal government, which also carries accumulating pension privileges. Whether he does draw the California pension "the people" of California are not allowed to know but there is no reason why he shouldn't. Why not? The law grants it to him. Secrecy makes for mystery and mystery makes for inaccuracy but it is a fact that Mr. Warren's "contribution" over the years was much less than one year's pension benefits.

The highest old-age pension for "the people" under Social Security is $162 a month but if a "client" of this "benefit" continues to earn by effort more than $2080 a year, he loses his $162 a month. The idea here was to prevent old people from taking little supplementary jobs as sitters, watchmen and what-not and thus forming a sort of coolie class doing petty chores for low wages and keeping younger people out of those jobs. However, a congressman or mayor who takes his big pension—$20,000 a year in the case of Vincent Impellitteri when his rights mature in a couple of years—is not forbidden to take another job. He can practice law or go on the radio or any old thing, and his $20,000 a year will go right on.

It is not as though "the people" had contributed nothing to their Social Security. We all know they do, of course. Their employers contribute, too, and there you have another "fringe benefit" which is tax-exempt.

But the gall is found in the fact that practically the entire roster of public employes and the corporation pension beneficiaries frankly look down on "the people" as suckers. The hell of it is that "the people" are.

I wonder how many folks in Kingston know that an admiral and his wife made their home in Kingston although he had traveled all over the world. He was Admiral Francis Higginson who stayed at The Hungtington, 23-25 Pearl street, when the Preston family ran it. Admiral Higginson liked Kingston rather than a big city where there are so many apartment houses, because Kingston had many little houses with back yards. As he said, "What is a home without a backyard for a pet dog." I do hope Kingston does not grow away from the little houses with back yards where folks can sit in the sun and have pets. That must have been many years ago for the Preston family ran The Huntington from 1898 to 1945. This Pearl street boarding house was world famous for hospitality was extended to many famous men and women of the state and nation. All their guests came by recommendation. Judge Alton Brooks Parker and his wife stayed there at which time Governor Hill used to visit with them. Judge Parker served on the New York Supreme Court bench, 1886-1904, and became justice of the Court of Appeals in 1898. He was Democratic candidate for president of the United States in 1904 and lost to Teddy Roosevelt. The parents of Charles Evans Hughes stayed at The Huntington and Charles Hughes often visited them here. Hughes ran for president in 1916. He was secretary of state 1921-24 and Chief Justice 1930-41. The Huntington had a long line of illustrious guests during its 50 years under the management of the Preston family.

Back around 1949 Kingston Point's 12 acres were going up for auction. Of course, we know the outcome. Nothing happened. Somehow I have a feeling with Kingston growing in all directions folks need a real playground to go to. After all, no one wants to just take a ride without a destination, and the Kingston Point Beach proved in its short season that it can command several thousand people on a hot Sunday, I feel that in the very near future we will have our Kingston Point Park for the folks in Kingston. Mayor Stang did a wonderful job in a short time to put the beach back into use after so many years without it and I think his determination to have the park back as a playground may become a reality.

Of couse, I would like to see it as it used to be with its row boats and canoes in the lagoon around the band stand, and the big white pond lillies growing all around. Music seemed to come from many sources besides Mueller's orchestra at the bandstand Sunday. There was Joe McNelis at the merry-go-round. Somehow, I always bought red birch beer, and now when I see it, I think of those lovely Sundays at Kingston Point Park when the soft paddle of the large Dayline boats used to steam up to the pier. The Altamari family ran the bathing beach. The Weber family had a private bathing house up on the hill. The Weber's used to take me in horse and buggy over the high road that in itself was a thrill. The Point was a weekend summer resort, where a man and his family could have a good time and still have change from a dollar if they brought their lunch.

Why do we offer 2 TYPES of Checking Accounts— Regular and ThriftiCheck ?

There is a good reason why we offer both Regular Checking Account and ThriftiCheck Account services to our customers.

Some people draw many checks, make frequent deposits, keep substantial sums in their accounts and give the bank's name for credit reference. A Regular Checking Account is best for them because they ordinarily maintain an account balance large enough to cover operating expenses and consequently there is little or no charge for this kind of service.

Others keep less money in their account — some have just enough to take care of the checks they draw — and the number of checks is relatively few. These customers have a ThriftiCheck Account which normally costs only pennies per check.

Both Regular Checking and ThriftiCheck Account customers enjoy the advantages of convenience and safety.

Here you will find whichever checking account service is best for your own particular personal needs. May we tell you more about these services?

Mayor Stang did a wonderful job in a short time to put the beach back into use after so many years without it and I think his determination to have the park back as a playground may become a reality.

Of couse, I would like to see it as it used to be with its row boats and canoes in the lagoon around the band stand, and the big white pond lillies growing all around. Music seemed to come from many sources besides Mueller's orchestra at the bandstand Sunday. There was Joe McNelis at the merry-go-round. Somehow, I always bought red birch beer, and now when I see it, I think of those lovely Sundays at Kingston Point Park when the soft paddle of the large Dayline boats used to steam up to the pier. The Altamari family ran the bathing beach. The Weber family had a private bathing house up on the hill. The Weber's used to take me in horse and buggy over the high road that in itself was a thrill. The Point was a weekend summer resort, where a man and his family could have a good time and still have change from a dollar if they brought their lunch.

WANTED TO BUY — Every week there is something that I want to buy. I would buy it, and buy it from you if you had a want ad in these columns. I read them every week.

Why do we offer 2 TYPES of Checking Accounts— Regular and ThriftiCheck ?

There is a good reason why we offer both Regular Checking Account and ThriftiCheck Account services to our customers.

Some people draw many checks, make frequent deposits, keep substantial sums in their accounts and give the bank's name for credit reference. A Regular Checking Account is best for them because they ordinarily maintain an account balance large enough to cover operating expenses and consequently there is little or no charge for this kind of service.

Others keep less money in their account — some have just enough to take care of the checks they draw — and the number of checks is relatively few. These customers have a ThriftiCheck Account which normally costs only pennies per check.

Both Regular Checking and ThriftiCheck Account customers enjoy the advantages of convenience and safety.

Here you will find whichever checking account service is best for your own particular personal needs. May we tell you more about these services?

Fire Cancels Train

Tuckahoe, April 13 (AP)—Fire in a New York Central Railroad freight house here early today caused cancellation of one commuter train on the Harlem Division and delayed another for a half hour. Both trains, the only ones affected, were bound for New York city. The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered at 4:20 a. m. The electric power was cut off, and Tuckahoe firemen had to string hose across the tracks. The tracks were clear at 6:20 a. m., before the start of the commuter rush hour.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Tourney Is Spot For Great Plays

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a tournament recently, practically everybody played the South hand at three no-trump. All of these declarers won the opening diamond lead with the ace and ran the five club tricks at once.

Poor West had to find three discards on the clubs, and the problem was usually too much for him. One spade discard would be fatal, for South would make his vital ninth trick with the jack of spades.

In some cases, West discarded two small diamonds and the 10 of hearts. This didn't work.

Opening lead—♦ K

After South had finished with the clubs, he led a diamond. If West took three diamonds and the ace of hearts, he then had to lead a spade away from his queen; and then South got three spade tricks, making the contract.

In one case, West tried to get out of the end-play by taking the second round of diamonds, cashing the ace of hearts, and getting out with a low diamond to East's jack. Dummy then discarded a spade, and declarer easily established a heart as his ninth trick.

Only one defense really worked. West's three discards were one diamond and both hearts! When South now led a diamond, East won with the jack and cashed the king of hearts to give West a spade discard. Then East led his last diamond, and West set the contract with the rest of his tricks.

This defense was possible only because East signalled his heart strength very early and never discarded a diamond. Give credit to both defenders for this very ingenious defense.

Students Pay Fines

Princeton, N. J., April 13 (AP)—After meekly entering pleas of guilty to disorderly conduct charges, seven Rutgers University students paid $91 in fines yesterday for staging an April Fool's Day raid on the Princeton campus. The students were unable to explain their action to Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro. They had "invaded" the Princeton campus in a car, and then made off with three bicycles and three bundles of laundry. The students involved included James N. Penny, 20, Cedarhurst, N. Y., and Robert Hardy, 21, Hudson, N. Y.

Threatens to Cut Aid

Albany, April 13 (AP)—The state education commissioner has threatened to cut off state school aid to Yonkers next year unless the city demonstrates it is carrying its share of the educational burden. "I am not justified in apportioning public moneys to any community if it fails to carry out its own obligations," Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson said yesterday. Wilson made the statement in upholding an appeal by a group of Yonkers residents who contended that the children of the city were receiving "substandard educational opportunities."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Tourney Is Spot For Great Plays

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a tournament recently, practically everybody played the South hand at three no-trump. All of these declarers won the opening diamond lead with the ace and ran the five club tricks at once.

Poor West had to find three discards on the clubs, and the problem was usually too much for him. One spade discard would be fatal, for South would make his vital ninth trick with the jack of spades.

In some cases, West discarded two small diamonds and the 10 of hearts. This didn't work.

After South had finished with the clubs, he led a diamond. If West took three diamonds and the ace of hearts, he then had to lead a spade away from his queen; and then South got three spade tricks, making the contract.

In one case, West tried to get out of the end-play by taking the second round of diamonds, cashing the ace of hearts, and getting out with a low diamond to East's jack. Dummy then discarded a spade, and declarer easily established a heart as his ninth trick.

Only one defense really worked. West's three discards were one diamond and both hearts! When South now led a diamond, East won with the jack and cashed the king of hearts to give West a spade discard. Then East led his last diamond, and West set the contract with the rest of his tricks.

This defense was possible only because East signalled his heart strength very early and never discarded a diamond. Give credit to both defenders for this very ingenious defense.

Research Needed To Beat Cancer, Bush Tells Group

A warning that cancer is now the most potent and cruel killer facing the average family was sounded by Dr. William S. Bush during a meeting of the Ulster County Cancer Crusade committee Tuesday night.

Dr. Busn, president of the Ulster County unit of the American Cancer Society, said only research, properly fostered, will overcome the cancer terror within the next decade, just as research found the Salk vaccine for polio.

"The announcement relative to polio and Salk vaccine must be a great satisfaction to those people who have unstintingly contributed to these disease research appeals in the past," the speaker said and added "medical science has removed tuberculosis and now polio from their fearsome positions in the hearts of parents."

MAKING AN APPEAL for a successful fund-raising drive this year, Dr. Bush said that last year the American Cancer Society, while allocating $5,500,000 to research projects, had to turn down 155 additional requests for assistance.

"It is quite possible that one of these requests could have been the one to find the cure for cancer. Lack of money can delay the thing we seek. In other words, money is time. Full support to the Cancer Crusade can bring the cure years closer."

Charles M. Rinschler, general chairman of the drive, advised his committee members that of the $16,000 raised in Ulster county last year, $5,000 was returned to the Ulster County Tumor Clinic towards maintenance costs.

Meanwhile, the committee last night heard further reports concerning the big Cancer Telethon scheduled for April 22 over WKNY-TV. Present plans indicate a varied list of entertainers for the worthy cause.

Jennings Book Is Collector's Item

Woodstock, April 13—This is the time of year, with the fishing season for trout almost a week old, when fishermen spend their evenings keeping precious rods and gear in good shape, flies sorted into neat compartments and reels rewound. For some, too, it is a time to brouse through books on the subject around the fireplaces of the many popular fishing lodges in the area. One of the most highly prized books by fishermen today was written by Preston J. Jennings, who has been a resident of Bearsville for the past five years. The magnificent first edition of the book, titled "A Book of Trout Flies," first published in a limited edition of 25 copies in 1935 by Derrydale Press, the only sporting press according to the author, we have in America, now brings a price of $400 in the rare book market.

The valuable information contained in the volume, however, came out later in a $20 edition, and is now obtainable in the third edition, which contains complete photographic reproductions at $7.50 a copy, currently published by the Crown Press.

Mr. Jennings explained, while showing a remarkable collection of flies at his Bearsville studio, how he was inspired to write the unique volume. Flies, as every good fisherman knows, are the artificial representations of some natural food of the fish.

"IN 1885," the author said, "we started to import European brown trout. Our native trout stayed only in the deep holes, while the brown trout sought the medium water. The rainbow trout stay in the thin, or top level of the water. Consequently fly fishing came to this country along with the brown trout."

In England, Mr. Jennings went on to explain, Halford, a wealthy Englishman provided the money for Moseley to do research on the insects required by the fish. When fly fishing came to America, Theodore Gordon was the original contact with these Englishmen and "we tried to use their flies which were designed from the insects native to British streams." No study had been made here and Mr. Jennings remembers that in the early 1920 there was still nothing available but Louis Reed's flies of English origin.

The author began to observe the natural American insects, the life native to our streams, but there was still no American publication available on the subject. He finally went to Dr. Spieth an instructor of biology at City College, New York, and some time later the material was assembled into the beautiful volume. It was superbly illustrated with the insects drawn on copper plate, and every plate in all of the volumes was hand colored. They were drawn by Alma Froderstrom, the artist now dead, under microscope. She was a member of the American Museum staff, the group which identified the natural insects from the material compiled by Mr. Jennings.

"Then we came along with the artificial wet flies which imitated these insects, followed by the group of dry flies." Fly tying, he pointed out, has been going on for hundreds of years but this was the first scientific book on flies published in this country.

THE FEATURE which makes Mr. Jennings' book remarkable is that in the covering box is a twin to the beautiful green bound volume, but it opens to disclose two pages of actual identified real flies, wet and dry, all tied by the author. He tied a total of 750 flies to enchance the first edition, making it the first book in the world where the author tied the flies.

The frontispiece carries his dedication which surprised and delighted his wife who is an experienced antique collector and artist with the needle. It reads: "This book is dedicated to my wife Adele Marie Louise, who sits complacently on the bank with her knitting and lets me attend to the fishing. May time be generous with her as she has been kind and considerate of me."

IN HIS STUDIO Mr. Jennings has a fabulous collection of flies tied by the most famous names in the world of fishermen. He also has a startling collection of feathers from birds from many parts of the world to be used in the imitation of tiny flies and insects. He even raised several old English blue game cocks from Wales, one of which still lives in Bearsville, for their plumage contains a shade of blue difficult to find by fly tiers. Another book, which has been in process for some years, is in the offing, but research is long and a fascinating occupation as well.

The Jennings have been coming to Mt. Tremper and Roscoe for the past 30 years for fishing, but it was his hobby of painting which brought him to Woodstock and five years ago they purchased the LeVigne home and studio in Bearsville. On the walls are many of his paintings several of which were painted while studying at the Hawthorne School in Provincetown. Wearied by long trips in search of fishing, the Jennings finally settled in Woodstock, and now he has a fishing stream right in his own back yard.

Asked if he had been out to try his luck this season, he laughed: "No, I'm like the katydids and the bees. When the water reaches 50 degrees, then I'll go out!"

Large Congregation Attends Service

Woodstock, April 13 — The Willow Wesleyan Methodist Chapel entertained a capacity attendance at an Easter service Sunday. An Easter anthem and recitation of welcome by Mark Howland, 6, Elliot Matson, 5, and Donald Adams, 4, opened the 11 a. m. worship service. Music by the choir and recitals by the other primary and intermediate departments was followed by the reading of the Holy Scripture by John Baldwin, 14. The pastor, the Rev. Gerald Matson, spoke on, the Plan, the Purpose and the Power of the Resurrection.

The Sunday school continued the tradition of the church by giving each child an Easter basket. Each teen-ager received an Easter chocolate cross, and each adult was given a little pastel replica of the cross as a momento of the Easter season.

Clothing Drive Will Continue Until May 15

Woodstock, April 13—Bundles and boxes of clothing and shoes are coming to the Woodstock Garage, being left by Woodstockers desiring to help in the effort of the Woodstock Rotary Club to do something to relieve the wants of Koreans still suffering from the effects of war, and in this way help to promote international good-will.

The collected clothing is to be distributed under the, direction of the Save the Children Federation, a child service organization with national headquarters at Carnegie Endowment International Center, 345 East 46th street, New York. This organization also helps needy families in disadvantaged rural areas of America, on the Navajo Indian Reservation and overseas in Austria, Finland, France, Western Germany, Greece, Italy, Israel, Lebanon and Yugoslavia as well as in Korea. But the materials being assembled in this Crusade are to be ear-marked for Korea, and this preference will be carefully respected by the organization.

Recently a Woodstock GI veteran back from Korea spoke of the great needs over there and of the work of the GIs in Korea to help these people in their need and wretchedness.

Clothing for both children and adults, warm and in good condition, may be brought to the Woodstock Garage during business hours any day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. The drive conttinues through May 15.

The magnificent first edition of the book, titled "A Book of Trout Flies," first published in a limited edition of 25 copies in 1935 by Derrydale Press, the only sporting press according to the author, we have in America, now brings a price of $400 in the rare book market.

The valuable information contained in the volume, however, came out later in a $20 edition, and is now obtainable in the third edition, which contains complete photographic reproductions at $7.50 a copy, currently published by the Crown Press.

Mr. Jennings explained, while showing a remarkable collection of flies at his Bearsville studio, how he was inspired to write the unique volume. Flies, as every good fisherman knows, are the artificial representations of some natural food of the fish.

"IN 1885," the author said, "we started to import European brown trout. Our native trout stayed only in the deep holes, while the brown trout sought the medium water. The rainbow trout stay in the thin, or top level of the water. Consequently fly fishing came to this country along with the brown trout."

In England, Mr. Jennings went on to explain, Halford, a wealthy Englishman provided the money for Moseley to do research on the insects required by the fish. When fly fishing came to America, Theodore Gordon was the original contact with these Englishmen and "we tried to use their flies which were designed from the insects native to British streams." No study had been made here and Mr. Jennings remembers that in the early 1920 there was still nothing available but Louis Reed's flies of English origin.

The author began to observe the natural American insects, the life native to our streams, but there was still no American publication available on the subject. He finally went to Dr. Spieth an instructor of biology at City College, New York, and some time later the material was assembled into the beautiful volume. It was superbly illustrated with the insects drawn on copper plate, and every plate in all of the volumes was hand colored. They were drawn by Alma Froderstrom, the artist now dead, under microscope. She was a member of the American Museum staff, the group which identified the natural insects from the material compiled by Mr. Jennings.

"Then we came along with the artificial wet flies which imitated these insects, followed by the group of dry flies." Fly tying, he pointed out, has been going on for hundreds of years but this was the first scientific book on flies published in this country.

THE FEATURE which makes Mr. Jennings' book remarkable is that in the covering box is a twin to the beautiful green bound volume, but it opens to disclose two pages of actual identified real flies, wet and dry, all tied by the author. He tied a total of 750 flies to enchance the first edition, making it the first book in the world where the author tied the flies.

The frontispiece carries his dedication which surprised and delighted his wife who is an experienced antique collector and artist with the needle. It reads: "This book is dedicated to my wife Adele Marie Louise, who sits complacently on the bank with her knitting and lets me attend to the fishing. May time be generous with her as she has been kind and considerate of me."

IN HIS STUDIO Mr. Jennings has a fabulous collection of flies tied by the most famous names in the world of fishermen. He also has a startling collection of feathers from birds from many parts of the world to be used in the imitation of tiny flies and insects. He even raised several old English blue game cocks from Wales, one of which still lives in Bearsville, for their plumage contains a shade of blue difficult to find by fly tiers. Another book, which has been in process for some years, is in the offing, but research is long and a fascinating occupation as well.

The Jennings have been coming to Mt. Tremper and Roscoe for the past 30 years for fishing, but it was his hobby of painting which brought him to Woodstock and five years ago they purchased the LeVigne home and studio in Bearsville. On the walls are many of his paintings several of which were painted while studying at the Hawthorne School in Provincetown. Wearied by long trips in search of fishing, the Jennings finally settled in Woodstock, and now he has a fishing stream right in his own back yard.

Asked if he had been out to try his luck this season, he laughed: "No, I'm like the katydids and the bees. When the water reaches 50 degrees, then I'll go out!"

Clothing Drive Will Continue Until May 15

Woodstock, April 13—Bundles and boxes of clothing and shoes are coming to the Woodstock Garage, being left by Woodstockers desiring to help in the effort of the Woodstock Rotary Club to do something to relieve the wants of Koreans still suffering from the effects of war, and in this way help to promote international good-will.

The collected clothing is to be distributed under the direction of the Save the Children Federation, a child service organization with national headquarters at Carnegie Endowment International Center, 345 East 46th street, New York. This organization also helps needy families in disadvantaged rural areas of America, on the Navajo Indian Reservation and overseas in Austria, Finland, France, Western Germany, Greece, Italy, Israel, Lebanon and Yugoslavia as well as in Korea. But the materials being assembled in this Crusade are to be ear-marked for Korea, and this preference will be carefully respected by the organization.

Recently a Woodstock GI veteran back from Korea spoke of the great needs over there and of the work of the GIs in Korea to help these people in their need and wretchedness.

Clothing for both children and adults, warm and in good condition, may be brought to the Woodstock Garage during business hours any day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. The drive conttinues through May 15.

Steels and motors were the best performing divisions. Chrysler stood out it its section. Also higher were the aircrafts, chemicals, electrical equipments, railroads, and utilities.

BOOK REVIEW

PRAY FOR A BRAVE HEART
By Helen Mac Innes

The story starts with Maj. Bill Deming, packing to leave Berlin for his home in America, after four year' of tracking down hidden Nazi loot—in the wrong hands. Not much point in going home now—his adored wife Peggy was dead—but anyhow there seemed to be not much more he could do here, until, with dramatic suddenness, his old friend, Col. Max Meyer, calls with a tale of the imminent smuggling of the famous Hertz diamonds (stolen by Goering) to America via Switzerland. Meyer begs Denning to stay and help him to prevent the loss of the diamonds and also to uncover more skulduggery only hinted at.

Deming agrees to meet Meyer at Bern. While awaiting instructions from Meyer's friend, Keppler, Swiss security agent and ex-schoolmaster, Deming has time to observe certain signs that he is being watched at his hotel; also to meet Charles-Auguste Maartens, gem thief extraordinary, whom Meyer is to meet later at the Cafe Henzi.

That afternoon, by chance, he meets Paula, wife of his Princeton friend, Andy Waysmith, foreign correspondent, with her friend beautiful, sad-eyed Francesca Vivenzio. He declines an invitation to dinner since nothing must interfere with his business with Meyer. A wise precaution for that evening after his meeing with Kessler and the French security agent, Le Brun. Denning sees his friend Meyer murdered by a mysterious taxi driver just outside the Cafe Henzi.

That ends chapter one of this smuggler chase.

Chapter two widens the chase to bring in the sinister reason back of the diamond smuggling. From a pack of cigarettes which Deming took from Meyer's dead hand, Kessler microfilms one little speck which reveals case histories of reputable scientists murdered or tortured by Communist agents as they are trying to escape to America. All of them have stayed for a time in the little village of Falken. This points to the Falken Committee of which Francesca and her friend, Gregor, former political prisoner, are the moving factors. Now Francesca is in real danger.

Another refugee from Communist Europe is Peter Andrassy, talented composer who, masquerading as a waiter at the Cafe Henzi while awaiting his chance to escape to America, disappears completely and suddenly.

All of the various persons sought by the Swiss and French police, as well as the Falken Committee are eventually gathered in the lovely little Swiss village of Falken. There is a wild flurry of excitement as hunters close in on their quarries—the high pitch of mountain yodellers sound a warning; a police dog growls viciously; plots and counter plots are hurriedly made in the quiet little village inn; road blocks are thrown up and in the end the master mind who planned to use the fund from the sale of the Hertz diamonds to further communism at home and abroad is caught red-handed with the loot. What happens to Francesca and to Andrassy is the most startling episode of all and you are left to conjecture about the future of Francesca and Deming, who is the most witty character in the story.

Descriptions of the beautiful Swiss landscape are highlights of this delightful novel. For instance as Andy, Deming and Paula approach Falken they see, "* * * The beginnings of a broad valley, where mountains had stepped back and Falken's toy houses were scattered, like a handful of confetti, over the sloping meadows. It was a smiling village, lying open to the sun among green fields and tongues of forest, a place of innocence and peace. Even the torrent, which had rushed in cold fury to meet them for the last five miles, had become a placid stream flowing calmly through the meadows, a straight band of pale blue crystal, to form the spine of the valley."

A far too peaceful prospect to be shattered by Communist ambition.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

PRAY FOR A BRAVE HEART
By Helen Mac Innes

The story starts with Maj. Bill Deming, packing to leave Berlin for his home in America, after four year' of tracking down hidden Nazi loot—in the wrong hands. Not much point in going home now—his adored wife Peggy was dead—but anyhow there seemed to be not much more he could do here, until, with dramatic suddenness, his old friend, Col. Max Meyer, calls with a tale of the imminent smuggling of the famous Hertz diamonds (stolen by Goering) to America via Switzerland. Meyer begs Denning to stay and help him to prevent the loss of the diamonds and also to uncover more skulduggery only hinted at.

Deming agrees to meet Meyer at Bern. While awaiting instructions from Meyer's friend, Keppler, Swiss security agent and ex-schoolmaster, Deming has time to observe certain signs that he is being watched at his hotel; also to meet Charles-Auguste Maartens, gem thief extraordinary, whom Meyer is to meet later at the Cafe Henzi.

That afternoon, by chance, he meets Paula, wife of his Princeton friend, Andy Waysmith, foreign correspondent, with her friend beautiful, sad-eyed Francesca Vivenzio. He declines an invitation to dinner since nothing must interfere with his business with Meyer. A wise precaution for that evening after his meeing with Kessler and the French security agent, Le Brun. Denning sees his friend Meyer murdered by a mysterious taxi driver just outside the Cafe Henzi.

That ends chapter one of this smuggler chase.

Chapter two widens the chase to bring in the sinister reason back of the diamond smuggling. From a pack of cigarettes which Deming took from Meyer's dead hand, Kessler microfilms one little speck which reveals case histories of reputable scientists murdered or tortured by Communist agents as they are trying to escape to America. All of them have stayed for a time in the little village of Falken. This points to the Falken Committee of which Francesca and her friend, Gregor, former political prisoner, are the moving factors. Now Francesca is in real danger.

Another refugee from Communist Europe is Peter Andrassy, talented composer who, masquerading as a waiter at the Cafe Henzi while awaiting his chance to escape to America, disappears completely and suddenly.

Greeks Worried About Contrast For Young Returning to Farms

(Editor's note: How is Greece going to keep down on the farm the kidnaped youths that Communist nations are now eager to hand back after indoctrinating them for seven years in Red metropolitan centers? William L. Ryan sums up aspects of the modern Greek tragedy in the following dispatch, the last in a series of three.)

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Salonika, Greece, April 13 (AP)—"Why did they not send us back our children when we asked for them—six or seven years ago?" the Greek official said. "Why are they so anxious now?

"Perhaps it is because now many of the children are grown up and ready. Perhaps, from the Communist way of thinking, the time has arrived."

THE OFFICIAL was discussing with me the grave problem of Greek repatriates from Communist countries, where anywhere from 35,000 to 50,000 Greeks — the majority young people—have been kept since the civil war. The Communists not only have agreed to repatriate some of them now. They seem anxious to send them in large numbers.

"To do the work of the Communist party in Greece, they would require only a relative few," this official continued. "Most of the repatriated people probably still are loyal Greeks. But surely among the young people now there must be many who have been turned into convinced Communists."

YOUNG BOYS, snatched from their peasant villages in that rugged mountain areas of northern Greece, given special treatment in a big city under ceaseless indoctrination, isolated from all other influences, might well have become convinced in seven years.

Surely among them also must be many young people who will be unhappy back in their native villages, unable to find the kind of work for which they now have been trained abroad, unable to have any of the conveniences of a modern city.

The 200 repatriates in Kastoria, near the Albanian border, are housed in squalid surroundings in two abandoned schoolhouses. Unanimously they seem to hate the Communists and all their works. They hotly deny there have been any agitators among them, that any among them ever expressed the wish to go back to the Communist lands. But even these people do not want to work in the villages any more. The men—and they are not among the chosen groups specially trained abroad—want to head to the cities to find work. Many of them do not want to go back to the farms at all.

THESE PEOPLE represent the first trickle, some 3,700 repatriates. Many of them have now been resettled in villages. They are not the people who cause the Greek authorities the greatest concern. The authorities are wondering about those to come—the youngsters grown to maturity under Communist teaching and isolation.

Already Greek officials have noted a tendency in the Communist countries to fatten up persons about to be sent home three or four months of treatment which is exceptionally good in comparison with what they experienced before. Some come back with small radios or small electric kitchen utensils they either were able to buy or were given before they left. But their villages do not yet know electricity.

NORTHERN Greece is a hard, stony land. The business of scratching out a living is difficult. For young men who were given special treatment abroad, the return is a shock. The Communists seem to have tried to make sure that the contrast would be felt keenly by those who remember scarcely anything of their former life in Greece.

Here in Macedonia, close to the borders of communism, there is concern about the possibility of a future guerrilla nucleus in Greece, usable by the Communists in time of emergency.

At the end of the civil war some 15,000 Red Greek guerrillas fled across the borders to Communist countries. To these, say Macedonian officials, add a fair number of young men trained through their boyhood in communism and wholly under Red influence. The possibility arises of a hard nucleus for a future Greek Communist movement.

PERHAPS as a preliminary, the Reds also are attempting to regain strength in Greece by the clandestine return of some veteran agents.

Minister - Governor George Kosmas has alerted all forestes, game wardens and security forces in northern Greece to be on the lookout for Communist agents infiltrating across the Bulgarian and Albanian borders.

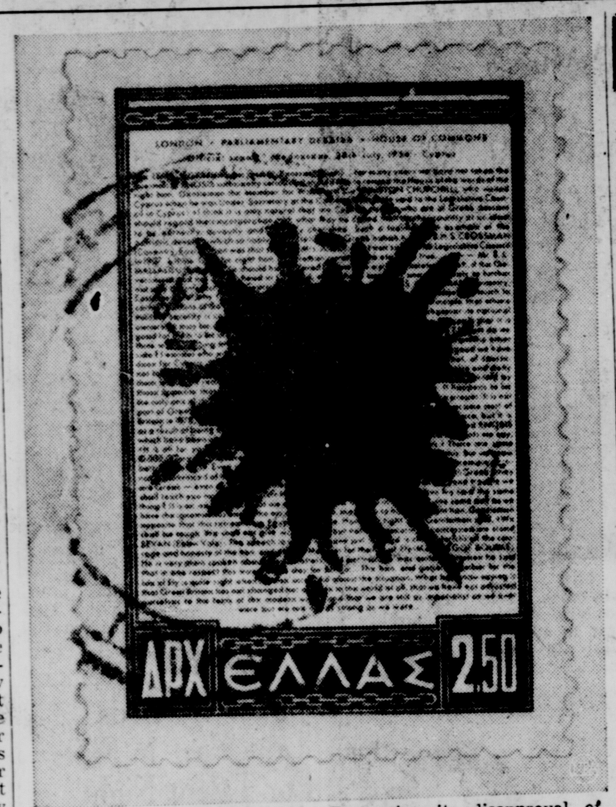
Kosmas' general order followed the arrest of several Red leaders who had crossed secretly into Greece with instructions to reorganize the shattered underground party apparatus.

Constantine Loules, a member of the Greek Communist party's central committee and Politburo, was on of those recently picked up. And four ranking Greek Communists were arrested shortly after they crossed from Bulgaria. Inteior Minister Evangelos Kalatzis said a fifth infiltrator was killed trying to escape and a sixth got away.

Bearing false identity cards and thousands of dollars in currency they were equipped for extensive operations.

Trial Set May 10

Mobile, Ala., April 13 (AP)—Col. Carl Booth said yesterday the trial of a Mobile man charged with killing a former marine from New York has been reset for May 10 in Mobile Circuit Court. Grant Cooper is charged with slaying Larry Roger Piotrowski of Woodside, N. Y., last Nov. 22. The body of Piotrowski, 19, was found on the bank of Eight-Mile creek in suburban Whistler. It contained five bullet holes. Officers said Cooper admitted killing Piotrowski because of "an old grudge." They said he declined to elaborate. The trial had been set recently but was postponed because Booth was ill.



STAMP OF DISAPPROVAL—Expressing its disapproval of Great Britain's refusal to leave Cyprus, the Greek government has issued this stamp featuring an ink blot superimposed on an official report of the July 24, 1954, debate on Cyprus in the British House of Commons. One thousand English words, each one remarkably legible, are reproduced on the stamp.

The original baker's dozen (13 instead of 12) started in England. It was actually the extra profit or selling commission a dealer received for selling the regular dozen to customers.

Why pay up to $500 more for a car smaller than Plymouth?

Don't be fooled by the claims of so-called medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much, much less than medium-price cars, and gives you more car for your money!

WHO PAYS THE TIP?

Today's first letter tells me: "A friend of mine invited me to lunch with her the other day at a very nice restaurant in town. She, of course, paid the check which was a considerable amount. I insisted upon leaving the tip. I thought this was the least I could do and meant it as a kindly gesture. However, she seemed to resent this very much. Will you please tell me if I was wrong in offering to leave the tip?"

The tip was an essential part of the lunch to which she invited you and should have been paid by her.

A Wedding Invitation Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister is going to be married soon and inasmuch as our parents are deceased, we are in doubt as to who should send out the invitations—our aunt or me. I am married and eight years older than my sister. My sister lives with my aunt at the present time, although she has only lived with her since the beginning of the year. If I send out the invitations, should my husband's name be included too?

Answer: Unless your aunt is giving the wedding, you and your husband would be the correct ones to send out the wedding invitations.

Pouring at a Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to pour at a large tea. (a) Am I supposed to arrive early ahead of the guests, and (b) shall I take off my hat?

Answer: (a) You should be there ten minutes or so ahead of time so as to be ready to pour as soon as the first guests arrive. (b) Whether or not you keep on your hat depends on local custom. In New York, deputy hostesses wear their hats always; in many other communities, they never do. But since an attractive appearance is of first importance, it is never looked upon as a mistake to do whichever you thing most becoming.

Executive of Girl Scout World Association To Be Speaker at County Council Dinner

MISS ETHEL RUSK

Miss Ethel Rusk, assistant director of the World Bureau of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, will be the guest speaker at the annual spring dinner meeting of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Monday, April 25, at 6:30 p. m.

THE DINNER meeting is the one social occasion during the year for which all Scout personnel assiting with the maintenance and development of Scouting within Ulster county come together to review the activities of the year, plan cooperatively for the year ahead, and promote general good-will. Invitations have been issued to nearly 400 adult Scouts comprising the board of directors, the members of the functional committees, leaders, assistant leaders, troop committees, and associate members. For the first time, nearly 100 Senior Girl Scouts have also been invited to participate in the affair.

Ulster county adult Scouts anticipate Miss Rusk's appearance with a feeling of neighborliness as she is a native of Marlborough. She received her earlier formal education at New York State College for Teachers in Albany. Since that time, to assist her in her work she has studied many languages and speaks Spanish.

IN ADDITION to her work for the World Association, Miss Rusk is also a member of the staff of the International Division of the Girl Scouts, U. S. A. She has traveled extensively in connection with her international work, visiting nearly every country in the Western Hemisphere and making a number of trips to Europe to attend meetings of the World Association.

She became a member of the Girl Scout national staff in 1932 and was largely instrumental in developing the extensive international work of the Girl Scout Organization. Miss Rusk was appointed executive secretary of the Western Hemisphere Committee of the World Association in 1943 and, in that post, is in constant touch with the various Girl Guide and Girl Scout groups in this part of the world. Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Haiti, Mexico, and the USA are members of the World Association in this hemisphere and Scouting is rapidly developing in other South and Central American countries.

A WORLD CENTER especially for girls of the Western Hemisphere, to be known as Our Cabana is being erected at present at Cuernavaca, Mexico.

Executive of Girl Scout World Association To Be Speaker at County Council Dinner

MISS ETHEL RUSK

Miss Ethel Rusk, assistant director of the World Bureau of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, will be the guest speaker at the annual spring dinner meeting of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Monday, April 25, at 6:30 p. m.

THE DINNER meeting is the one social occasion during the year for which all Scout personnel assiting with the maintenance and development of Scouting within Ulster county come together to review the activities of the year, plan cooperatively for the year ahead, and promote general good-will. Invitations have been issued to nearly 400 adult Scouts comprising the board of directors, the members of the functional committees, leaders, assistant leaders, troop committees, and associate members. For the first time, nearly 100 Senior Girl Scouts have also been invited to participate in the affair.

Ulster county adult Scouts anticipate Miss Rusk's appearance with a feeling of neighborliness as she is a native of Marlborough. She received her earlier formal education at New York State College for Teachers in Albany. Since that time, to assist her in her work she has studied many languages and speaks Spanish.

IN ADDITION to her work for the World Association, Miss Rusk is also a member of the staff of the International Division of the Girl Scouts, U. S. A. She has traveled extensively in connection with her international work, visiting nearly every country in the Western Hemisphere and making a number of trips to Europe to attend meetings of the World Association.

She became a member of the Girl Scout national staff in 1932 and was largely instrumental in developing the extensive international work of the Girl Scout Organization. Miss Rusk was appointed executive secretary of the Western Hemisphere Committee of the World Association in 1943 and, in that post, is in constant touch with the various Girl Guide and Girl Scout groups in this part of the world. Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Haiti, Mexico, and the USA are members of the World Association in this hemisphere and Scouting is rapidly developing in other South and Central American countries.

A WORLD CENTER especially for girls of the Western Hemisphere, to be known as Our Cabana is being erected at present at Cuernavaca, Mexico.

Central to Retire Cold Brook Station

Albany, April 13—The Public Service Commission today authorized New York Central railroad to discontinue all but the handling of carload freight at Cold Brook, Ulster county, and to retire its station building there. Carload shipments will be handled on local team tracks but under jurisdiction of the agent at Phoenicia as at present.

For the past several years the Cold Brook station has had a non-agency status. Testimony at a recent public hearing was to the effect that no less-than-carload freight shipments were made to or from Cold Brook between Jan. 1, 1950 and Dec. 22, 1954. The station is located about six miles east of Phoenicia on the railroad's Catskill Mountain Branch.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

City Is Probing Saratoga Fire

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 13 (AP)—This city's public safety commissioner declared today he would "leave no stone unturned" to determine the cause of a fire that killed two adults and six children.

Commissioner Harry Burke called a hearing this afternoon (1 p. m., EST) to investigate the oil-and-paint-fed fire and explosion that roared through a rickety brick and frame apartment and business building early yesterday.

FIRE CHIEF George Kirkpatrick said the search for two bodies would be resumed today. The other six were found before the search was suspended at nightfall.

The dead were a family of seven and a 10-year-old Easter visitor who had been sleeping in a third-floor apartment. Curtains had been taken down in preparation for moving today. Rescuers believed at first that the apartment was empty.

GILBERT ABEEL, a 40-year-old truck driver, shouted for help from the apartment window as flames encircled him. Also trapped were his wife, Madeline, 37; their five children, William, 3, Gilbert Jr., 6, Jane, 8, Irene, 10, and Ruth, 13. The visitor was Garry Larue of nearby Wilton.

About 35 other persons, including 19 children, escaped the 71-year-old building before it was engulfed by flames.

There was no official estimate of the loss. Unofficial figures ranged around $100,000.

Seeks Full Board Parley

New York, April 13 (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union has broken negotiations with a subcommittee of the New York City Transit Authority and is seeking a meeting with the full five-member board. In ending the discussions yesterday, the union telegraphed to Authority Chairman Hugh J. Casey that it could make no progress in talking with the subcommittee. The union sought a meeting tomorrow with the authority itself.

16,394 Visas Issued

Rome, April 13 (AP)—The U. S. embassy said today 16,394 visas have been issued in Italy under the refugee relief program, subject of a hot debate in Washington. Of the total, 289 went to refugees and persons who escaped from behind the Iron Curtain. The balance of 16,105 was issued to Italians with relatives in the United States.

Harriman Signs Annulment Bill

Albany, April 13 (AP)—Gov. Harriman has signed a bill requiring that a person attemping to annul his marriage on the ground of fraud must start the action within three years after the alleged fraud is discovered.

The law, proposed by Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Westchester county Republican, takes effect next Sept. 1.

Harriman approved the measure late yesterday on his return from a week's vacation at Hobe Sound, Fla., and a two-day stopover in New York city.

UNDER PRESENT law, there is no restriction on the time during which persons may sue for an annulment. Wilson said the measure was designed to reduce annulments based on trumped-up fraud charges.

Other bills signed by the governor yesterday would:

Classify hard-of-hearing and prematurely born children as eligible for state aid for the physically handicapped. (Assemblywoman Genesta Strong, R.-Nassau).

Permit New York city to borrow $3,400,000 to retire old pension liabilities of the IRT and BMT subway systems (Assemblyman William G. Giaccio, D.-Queens).

EXEMPT CERTAIN services from the New York city sales tax (Assemblyman Archibald Douglas, R.-Manhattan).

Allow use of voting machines and other election equipment for instructional purposes in village and town schools (Assemblyman James Fitzpatrick, R.-Plattsburgh).

'Grievances' Studied

Rochester, April 13 (AP)—About 200 clergymen attending a spring convocation today pondered a list of "grievances" by Tilford E. Dudley, assistant director of the CIO Political Action Committee. Dudley told a banquet meeting of the New York State Council of Churches last night that the church was "afraid" to take a stand on the social issues of the day. The ancient Christians, he said, had the courage to go into the Roman arena in support of their beliefs. But today's Christians "scatter like rabbits at the first gunshot."

Boarder—No, I didn't rest so very well. I was troubled with insomnia.

ganizations later put on the attorney general's subversive list. Corsi has disputed this. A Republican, he has held various public offices for 25 years.

KILGORE, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, said he favors "liberalization" of the act under which Congress authorized special admission into this country of 214,000 refugees by 1956. Corsi has said only 1,000 have come in in the last 16 months.

Kilgore said he thinks there ought to be an investigation of the law's operations.

LANGER said Corsi "is entitled" to an inquiry into his accusation that the refugee program is being sabotaged, and he added: "Everyone concerned with this important matter will be requested to testify . . . under oath." He said he assumes Dulles and Corsi will be called as witnesses.

"Most of all," Langer said, "the subcommittee will want to know whether this law has worked well, as alleged by Secretary Dulles, or whether it is a failure as stated by Mr. Corsi."

Mrs. Stevens and her daughters, each five pounds, were taken to St. John's Hospital, where they were reported in good condition.

Woman Fined $1,000

Norwich, Conn., April 13 (AP)—A Superior Court judge has fined a woman who dragged a man's body over seven miles of road on the end of her car and threw it into a lake. Mellitz fined her $1,000 and imposed a three months suspended sentence yesterday after she pleaded guilty to charges of failure to notify the medical examiner of a sudden death and unlawful removal of a dead body.

Rains Greet Churchill

Siracusa, Sicily, April 13 (AP)—April 13 brought bad luck today to eager amateur artist Sir Winston Churchill, who came here searching a sunny painter's paradise. Intermittent rain continued today and skies were gunmetal gray. The forecast: No improvement within 24 hours.

Intermittent rain continued today and skies were gunmetal gray. The forecast: No improvement within 24 hours.

HE REMEMBERS GETTYSBURG—This unusual photo-study shows Ed Baugher, of Kinsley, Kans., as he smoked and reminisced on his recent 100th birthday. Said Ed: "It's too bad we have to get so old so young." He was born March 16, 1855, in the Pennsylvania Dutch settlement of East Berlin, Pa. He was a lad of eight when the battle of Gettysburg was fought a scant 15 miles northeast of his home. About all he recalls is the thunder of the battle and the sight of Yankee and Confederate soldiers running about the countryside. After marriage in Pennsylvania, he settled in Kinsley in 1878 and for forty years was the village blacksmith. He retired from the smithy in 1922 to a life of gardening, chopping firewood for his wife Katie and fishing. The lively old-timer, a scant 5-foot, 3 inches of less than 100 pounds says he has foregone milk since his infancy and has smoked for 88 years. Kinsley townfolk gave Ed a birthday party, with 100-candle cake, old-time music and square dancing. He didn't dance. "I reckon it's about time I started acting my age," he explained. Want to feel like a pilot feels?

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY

No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

*Today's the day to "Join The Test Pilot Club" and see what a thrill you get when you try Variable Pitch Dynaflow

We're not kidding.

When you try a '55 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow, you'll feel like a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway for take-off.

For you, in the driver's seat, are doing what that pilot does—you're changing the pitch of your propellers—one way for instant response on getaway—another way for better gas mileage in cruising.

Your propellers are whirling in oil, deep inside the Dynaflow unit. When you press the pedal in the normal way, you hold those propellers in their economy angle—and you enjoy plenty more miles from your gasoline.

But when you want instant acceleration—for quick getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge of emergency power—you just press the pedal way down, and—with absolute smoothness—you get the action you want, and split-second quick.

It's the thrill that's the talk of the industry—performance unlike anything you have ever known before on the ground.

And so many folks have been asking to try it that we Buick dealers across America have set up April as "Test Pilot Club" Month. All it takes to join the "Club" is a test drive at the wheel of a new Buick. That's all.

So we cordially invite you to win your "wings"—to try the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and to feel the mighty V8 power that puts the whip to these gorgeous new Buick beauties. Drop in this week.

Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

Local delivered price of the 1955 Buick SPECIAL

2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan, Model 48 (illustrated) is

$2536.88

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.

Said a sleuth: Ah! The mystery's unravelin'—
About cars that "take off like a javelin."
But with Dynaflow's switch
Of its Variable Pitch—
You were here. Now you're there.
Boy, that's travelin'!
(Why don't you try a Buick?)

Want to feel like a pilot feels?

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY

No wonder you see so many '55 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever before in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three" of America's best sellers.

*Today's the day to "Join The Test Pilot Club" and see what a thrill you get when you try Variable Pitch Dynaflow

We're not kidding.

When you try a '55 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow, you'll feel like a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway for take-off.

For you, in the driver's seat, are doing what that pilot does—you're changing the pitch of your propellers—one way for instant response on getaway—another way for better gas mileage in cruising.

Your propellers are whirling in oil, deep inside the Dynaflow unit. When you press the pedal in the normal way, you hold those propellers in their economy angle—and you enjoy plenty more miles from your gasoline.

But when you want instant acceleration—for quick getaway, or for a sudden safety-surge of emergency power—you just press the pedal way down, and—with absolute smoothness—you get the action you want, and split-second quick.

It's the thrill that's the talk of the industry—performance unlike anything you have ever known before on the ground.

And so many folks have been asking to try it that we Buick dealers across America have set up April as "Test Pilot Club" Month. All it takes to join the "Club" is a test drive at the wheel of a new Buick. That's all.

So we cordially invite you to win your "wings"—to try the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow—and to feel the mighty V8 power that puts the whip to these gorgeous new Buick beauties. Drop in this week.

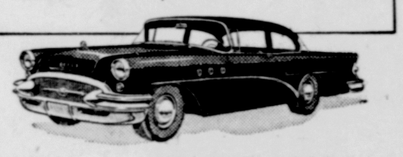
*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Local delivered price of the 1955 Buick SPECIAL

2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan, Model 48 (illustrated) is

$2536.88

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster—$81.70; Radio & Antenna—$92.50.



Said a sleuth: Ah! The mystery's unravelin'—
About cars that "take off like a javelin."
But with Dynaflow's switch
Of its Variable Pitch—
You were here. Now you're there.
Boy, that's travelin'!
(Why don't you try a Buick?)

Area Golf Openers Carded This Weekend

Woodstock Open For First Time

Hundreds of area golfers took advantage of the Saturday before Palm Sunday and subsequent summer like days for an early start on the 1955 golf season.

But the traditional general openers are carded this weekend, with Woodstock Country Club opening the greens for the first time.

Twaalfskill has already had heavy play, along with Shawangunk at Ellenville. Some Woodstock players have been touring the fairways but have not been permitted on the greens.

BOTH TWAALFSKILL and Woodstock report heavy membership pressure for 1955. President Robert Umpleby says Twaalfskill will operate with an all-time high golf membership this season.

Woodstock approached the bursting point late in 1954 and president Tony DeLisio, now vacationing in Florida, predicts the village club membership will be closed early this season.

Meanwhile, members of Wiltwyck's new 18-hole club expect to be able to play the first nine holes somewhere between May 30 and June 15.

ROBERT TRENT JONES, the noted architect who is building the course, has maintained all along that nine holes would be ready for play by Memorial Day.

If the front nine are available, the Father Herdegen Memorial tournament will open there on Saturday, June 18.

The old Wiltwyck layout, now being operated by Herb Kessman, has eight holes available at the present and the driving range operator hopes to add a ninth in the near future. He anticipates year-round play at the Hurley avenue links.

TWAALFSKILL IS the first area club to announce its tournament schedule for the new season. The tournament committee, headed by Clarence S. "Dubby" Raichle has already lined up several attractive events.

First regular competition is a sweepstake tournament on May 7. A Member-Guest tourney is scheduled on Memorial Day. The 4th of July event will be a weekend 27-hole tournament to be played nine holes daily.

July 4 is also Seniors Day at Twaalfskill with a special 13-hole tournament for players 50 years or older. The annual President's Cup competition is carded over the 27-hole route for the Labor Day weekend.

The Pro-Member tournament which proved so attractive last year will be repeated on Sunday, Oct. 9. Other dates on the golf calendar will be filled in later.

Bobby King Wins

Westbury, April 13 (AP)—Bobby King, 7-year-old black gelding, won by a length over Gene Jester in the featured Hicksville Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night. The time, 2:07 2/5, was good over the rain-swept track. Hughie Boy was third. Driven by Del Mac Tavish, Bobby King returned $11, $5.40 and $3.60.

That the newly formed New York-New Jersey semi-pro baseball league promoters plan to move cautiously in their first season of operation is evidenced in the modest 20-game schedule announced by President William D. Ryan of Newburgh.

That means a couple of home and home series of each team, with all action scheduled for weekends and the bulk of it under arclights.

Six members of the league include the Kingston Colonials, Newburgh Dodger Jewels, Poughkeepsie, Brooklyn Windsors, Paterson Uncle Sams and New York Mohawks.

"It's been a long three-year struggle to organize this league," Ryan said, "and we're going to take it easy the first year, smoothing off the rough spots and maybe come back with a full fledged 8-team league in 1956."

Ryan, a stout exponent of semi-pro ball, has operated successfully one of the last remaining bastions of the once flourishing industry at Newburgh. He was fortunate to have the lavish check book and goodwill of Louis R. Shapiro, the diamond merchant, but Ryan's enthusiasm and promotional acument also have contributed equally to the success of the Jewels. The Newburgh nine has a solid working agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers and is the winter book favorite to win the pennant.

An old friend, Benny Borgmann, who thrilled Kingston professional basketball audiences before launching a baseball career in the St. Louis Cardinal chain, has accepted the post of league adviser. Benny is a sound baseball man and his influence should be of considerable help to the new organization.

No word out of Fred Davi yet about Kingston plans, primarily because the Glasco Laughing Boy is involved in a boxing promotion this week. After that Davi's organizational genius will be challenged on a double-barrelled front—the City Baseball League and this new semi-pro circuit. A rather expansive man, Davi should be equal to the occasion.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Tavern Association keglers stage their annual feedbag Saturday night at Wimpy's. . . . This observer is amazed at the interest in softball for the 1955 season. The day may come when Andy Murphy and his associates may have to think in terms of Joe Pavlak's new scheme at Catskill where arclights are being installed at the old baseball orchard to accommodate night softball games. Pavlak, a former Daily Freeman reporter now attached to the Greene county sheriff's office, believes night softball gives the working man a better opportunity to play the game. Quitting work at 5 o'clock, then a fast dash home, a change of clothes, dinner and another mad race to the field results in a tired athlete, Pavlak reasons. Why not install lights and give the guys a chance to relax a couple hours before starting games at 7:30 or 8 o'clock. The night schedule might have to be adopted in Kingston by reason of playing pressure alone. There are just so many parks available. Arclights would enable each park to handle doubleheaders every night.

• What Price Publicity:

You do know that Rocky Marciano is the world's heavyweight champion, don't you? But it seems to us that Mickey Walker, the old Thomas street (Kingston) barkeep got more publicity returning to New York for a one-man art exhibition than was given Marciano opening training for the defense of the heavyweight championship. And the old Toy Bulldog has been dead pugilistically for more than 20 years. But then, who is this Don Cockell guy? Mickey, incidentally, would like to see all his Kingston friends at the Associated American Artists Gallery at 711 Fifth Avenue. Murray Olderman says the Cleveland Indians have the right idea in baseball promotions, what with behind-the-fence parties and picnics in the vast center field spaces . . . but can you imagine Larry Doby landing in your potato salad?

The New Order Cometh

Dressen Wants English, No Cuban for Senators

New York, April 13 (AP)—Chuck Dressen, the reformed letter writer, is back in town, perched atop the American League with Washington Senators in a first place tie.

As the Senators may not be enjoying such a lofty status the next time around, Dressen is taking advantage of the situation. Chuck has made changes at Washington, some of which may not be apparent to the naked eye.

For instance, he has been breaking up "roomie" assignments of long standing. Old friends no longer will be able to pal together. The new rule is that a veteran should room with a rookie.

"I WANT THE BOYS to learn as much baseball as they can, both on the field and off the field," said Dressen, "As often as possible, pitchers will room with catchers so they can discuss their problems after the game is over."

Among other things, Dressen plans to do away with the practice of Cuban players rooming with other Cubans. He wants all of them to learn English, instead of talking Spanish all summer.

"I can't send over to the United Nations for an interpreter everytime I want to give a sign," he said. "I want the Cubans to learn English good enough to get the signs and talk some baseball. They don'e seem to have any trouble, picking up enough English to order their meals."

DRESSEN MADE the final decision on his "learn English" campaign during Monday's opening game with Baltimore. Pinch runner Pedro Ramos, a Cuban, was on third base and another runner was on second with one out. As pitcher Bob Porterfield was the batter, Dressen wanted to use the squeeze play. After a consultation with Ramos, he wasn't sure he had made himself clear. So he called in pinch runner Bod Oldis to run for pinch runner Ramos. After all the conferences, he decided the squeeze had lost its surprise value so he let Porterfield hit away and got a run on a sacrifice fly.

Hey, You Yankees, How About Those Indians

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Could be that the opening day of major league baseball set what may be the pattern this season. Milwaukee and Cleveland were off and winning and the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees couldn't do a thing about it.

The pre-season popularity polls had Milwaukee's Braves copping the National League flag, with the world champion Giants and Brooks somewhere behind. Cleveland was picked to repeat in the American, again beating out the Yanks.

Milwaukee and Cleveland made hay yesterday while the other three contenders for the two pennants were stopped by rain. The Braves uncovered rookie Chuck Tanner, who swatted a first-pitch, pinch home run to get a 4-2 victory going against Cincinnati. And Cleveland, mixing power with its pitching, knocked off the Chicago White Sox, a dark horse threat, 5-1.

THE CHICAGO CUBS won their second 1955 decision, taking enormous liberties with St. Louis pitching to beat the Cardinals 14-4 in the only other National League game played.

Kansas City relied on a three-run sixth to beat Ned Garver and the Tigers as a capacity crowd of 32,843, plus former President Truman and Connie Mack, watched. The A's got nine hits, including a single, double and home run by Bill Wilson. Alex Kellner gave up six Detroit hits, one a Red Wilson homer, and Ewell Blackwell protected the decision with two-hit ball in the last three frames.

The Cubs repeated the hitting success of their first 1954 taste of St. Louis pitching, knocking out Brooks Lawrence in a five-run first and going on to total 18 hits off five Card hurlers. Dee Fondy drove in five runs with a bases-loaded double in the big first and a full house single in a six-run second. That gave him seven RBIs for the Cubs' two games. Hank Sauer had four hits.

BOSTON AND NEW Manager Pinky Higgins kicked up their heels as Ted Lepcio smacked two home runs in the rout of Baltimore.

The Phils and Giants will try again to open their season at Philadelphia today. Robin Roberts carries over as the Phillies' starter, as does Johnny Antonelli for the Giants. Washington and the Yankees do the same at Yankee Stadium, with Maury McDermott facing Whitey Ford.

Both are regularly scheduled games with yesterday's washouts to be played later. Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, however, will fill an open date at Ebbets Field today to play their postponed opener. It's Carl Erskine for the Brooks and Max Surkont for Pittsburgh.

In the American, the Kansas City Athletics broke into their new surroundings with a 6-2 victory over Detroit, and the Boston Red Sox gave the Baltimore Orioles their second setback 7-1.

TANNER, A 25-YEAR-old prospect up from Atlanta, carried on the Braves' rookie-a-spring program. Manager Cholly Grimm, who sprung loose Billy Bruton in '53 and Hank Aaron in '54, tapped Tanner to bat for Warren Spahn with the Braves trailing 2-1 in the eighth. The pinch homer on the first major league pitch he saw put Tanner in the book with the Cards' Ed Morgan, who managed the same accomplishment in 1939.

That tied the score, and after Bruton singled, Aaron clipped Gerry Staley's next pitch for a triple and the lead run. Ted Kluszewski had given the Redlegs their 2-1 edge in the top of the eighth, hitting his second homer of the season.

Like Spahn, Cleveland's Bob Leman got off toward another 20 victory season, handling the White Sox on four singles and a double. The Indians, apparently not as over-confident as General Manager Hank Greenberg feared, got to Virgil Trucks for two runs in the first as Vic Wertz singled with the bases loaded.

AL SMITH AND Ralph Kiner homered, although Kiner, whose big bat the Indians picked up from the Cubs over the winter, fanned in his first two trips. His first strikeout preceded Wertz' appearance with the bags jammed.

The game at Cleveland hauled in 50,230 fans—tops for the day as the majors drew 190,951. Milwaukee was second with 43,640.

National Champ On Amateur Boxing Card

An important change in Thursday's amateur boxing card will bring to Kingston a crack Syracuse University welterweight who recently won his second straight National intercollegiate title.

The lad is Johnny Grainger, who also was awarded the College Athlete of the Year citation. He is paired in a five-rounder with Bill Tibbetts, 147-pound Adirondack AAU kingpin.

Eddie Kitchcart, the Glasco sensation, has a new opponent in Howard Keyes, former district champion.

The remainder of the card is intact with George Kartalian, former intercollegiate heavyweight champion at Syracuse, meeting Dick Tuttle, Gloversville, in the 5-round feature.

Ken Barr is scheduled in a three-rounder.

PITCHING—Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians—Allowed only five hits, four of them singles, to beat the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

BATTING: Ted Lepcio, Boston Red Sox—Became first to hit two home runs in one game at Baltimore's spacious Memorial Stadium as Red Sox defeated Orioles 7-1.

Canadiens Tie Hockey Series

Montreal, April 13 (AP)—The Stanley Cup playoffs heads back to Detroit today with the Montreal Canadiens' comeback gang confident they can take hockey's choicest plum from the Red Wings in what figures to be a rough and tough winner-take-all finale tomorrow night.

The Canadiens, who twice have scrambled back to make a fight of it in the National Hockey League playoffs, forced the series into its seventh game by whipping the Wings 6-3 at the Forum last night.

Once again, Bernie (Boom Boom) Gioffrion was the hatchet man for Montreal, cutting down Detroit's bid for a second straight Cup with two goals and an assist on another.

AFTER THE FIRST two games in Detroit, Gioffrion scored three goals as Montreal made it a 2-1 series at the Forum. And he added another goal as the Canadiens squared the series at 2-2 last Saturday.

Back on their own ice once again, the Wings probably will have the odds with them. They haven't lost at home in 23 games.

But the Canadiens are conceding nothing.

Detroit was in the game only in the first period last night when the score was tied at 1-1. Then Boom Boom went to work and the Canadiens came out of the second period with a 4-2 lead. From there on in it was easy.

Dressen Wants English, No Cuban for Senators

New York, April 13 (AP)—Chuck Dressen, the reformed letter writer, is back in town, perched atop the American League with Washington Senators in a first place tie.

As the Senators may not be enjoying such a lofty status the next time around, Dressen is taking advantage of the situation. Chuck has made changes at Washington, some of which may not be apparent to the naked eye.

For instance, he has been breaking up "roomie" assignments of long standing. Old friends no longer will be able to pal together. The new rule is that a veteran should room with a rookie.

"I WANT THE BOYS to learn as much baseball as they can, both on the field and off the field," said Dressen, "As often as possible, pitchers will room with catchers so they can discuss their problems after the game is over."

Among other things, Dressen plans to do away with the practice of Cuban players rooming with other Cubans. He wants all of them to learn English, instead of talking Spanish all summer.

"I can't send over to the United Nations for an interpreter everytime I want to give a sign," he said. "I want the Cubans to learn English good enough to get the signs and talk some baseball. They don'e seem to have any trouble, picking up enough English to order their meals."

DRESSEN MADE the final decision on his "learn English" campaign during Monday's opening game with Baltimore, Pinch runner Pedro Ramos, a Cuban, was on third base and another runner was on second with one out. As pitcher Bob Porterfield was the batter, Dressen wanted to use the squeeze play. After a consultation with Ramos, he wasn't sure he had made himself clear. So he called in pinch runner Bod Oldis to run for pinch runner Ramos. After all the conferences, he decided the squeeze had lost its surprise value so he let Porterfield hit away and got a run on a sacrifice fly.

Hey, You Yankees, How About Those Indians

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Could be that the opening day of major league baseball set what may be the pattern this season. Milwaukee and Cleveland were off and winning and the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees couldn't do a thing about it.

The pre-season popularity polls had Milwaukee's Braves copping the National League flag, with the world champion Giants and Brooks somewhere behind. Cleveland was picked to repeat in the American, again beating out the Yanks.

Milwaukee and Cleveland made hay yesterday while the other three contenders for the two pennants were stopped by rain. The Braves uncovered rookie Chuck Tanner, who swatted a first-pitch, pinch home run to get a 4-2 victory going against Cincinnati. And Cleveland, mixing power with its pitching, knocked off the Chicago White Sox, a dark horse threat, 5-1.

THE CHICAGO CUBS won their second 1955 decision, taking enormous liberties with St. Louis pitching to beat the Cardinals 14-4 in the only other National League game played.

Kansas City relied on a three-run sixth to beat Ned Garver and the Tigers as a capacity crowd of 32,843, plus former President Truman and Connie Mack, watched. The A's got nine hits, including a single, double and home run by Bill Wilson. Alex Kellner gave up six Detroit hits, one a Red Wilson homer, and Ewell Blackwell protected the decision with two-hit ball in the last three frames.

The Cubs repeated the hitting success of their first 1954 taste of St. Louis pitching, knocking out Brooks Lawrence in a five-run first and going on to total 18 hits off five Card hurlers. Dee Fondy drove in five runs with a bases-loaded double in the big first and a full house single in a six-run second. That gave him seven RBIs for the Cubs' two games. Hank Sauer had four hits.

BOSTON AND NEW Manager Pinky Higgins kicked up their heels as Ted Lepcio smacked two home runs in the rout of Baltimore.

The Phils and Giants will try again to open their season at Philadelphia today. Robin Roberts carries over as the Phillies' starter, as does Johnny Antonelli for the Giants. Washington and the Yankees do the same at Yankee Stadium, with Maury McDermott facing Whitey Ford.

Both are regularly scheduled games with yesterday's washouts to be played later. Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, however, will fill an open date at Ebbets Field today to play their postponed opener. It's Carl Erskine for the Brooks and Max Surkont for Pittsburgh.

In the American, the Kansas City Athletics broke into their new surroundings with a 6-2 victory over Detroit, and the Boston Red Sox gave the Baltimore Orioles their second setback 7-1.

TANNER, A 25-YEAR-old prospect up from Atlanta, carried on the Braves' rookie-a-spring program. Manager Cholly Grimm, who sprung loose Billy Bruton in '53 and Hank Aaron in '54, tapped Tanner to bat for Warren Spahn with the Braves trailing 2-1 in the eighth. The pinch homer on the first major league pitch he saw put Tanner in the book with the Cards' Ed Mo◆gan, who managed the same accomplishment in 1939.

That tied the score, and after Bruton singled, Aaron clipped Gerry Staley's next pitch for a triple and the lead run. Ted Kluszewski had given the Redlegs their 2-1 edge in the top of the eighth, hitting his second homer of the season.

Like Spahn, Cleveland's Bob Leman got off toward another 20 victory season, handling the White Sox on four singles and a double. The Indians, apparently not as over-confident as General Manager Hank Greenberg feared, got to Virgil Trucks for two runs in the first as Vic Wertz singled with the bases loaded.

AL SMITH AND Ralph Kiner homered, although Kiner, whose big bat the Indians picked up from the Cubs over the winter, fanned in his first two trips. His first strikeout preceded Wertz' appearance with the bags jammed.

The game at Cleveland hauled in 50,230 fans—tops for the day as the majors drew 190,951. Milwaukee was second with 43,640.

National Champ On Amateur Boxing Card

An important change in Thursday's amateur boxing card will bring to Kingston a crack Syracuse University welterweight who recently won his second straight National intercollegiate title.

The lad is Johnny Grainger, who also was awarded the College Athlete of the Year citation. He is paired in a five-rounder with Bill Tibbetts, 147-pound Adirondack AAU kingpin.

Eddie Kitchcart, the Glasco sensation, has a new opponent in Howard Keyes, former district champion.

The remainder of the card is intact with George Kartalian, former intercollegiate heavyweight champion at Syracuse, meeting Dick Tuttle, Gloversville, in the 5-round feature.

Ken Barr is scheduled in a three-rounder.

Waltham ,Mass — (NEA) — Walt Mahoney, Brandeis University baseball coach, has a plan which calls for free substitution to give more players a chance to play.

Canadiens Tie Hockey Series

Montreal, April 13 (AP)—The Stanley Cup playoffs heads back to Detroit today with the Montreal Canadiens' comeback gang confident they can take hockey's choicest plum from the Red Wings in what figures to be a rough and tough winner-take-all finale tomorrow night.

The Canadiens, who twice have scrambled back to make a fight of it in the National Hockey League playoffs, forced the series into its seventh game by whipping the Wings 6-3 at the Forum last night.

Once again, Bernie (Boom Boom) Gioffrion was the hatchet man for Montreal, cutting down Detroit's bid for a second straight Cup with two goals and an assist on another.

AFTER THE FIRST two games in Detroit, Gioffrion scored three goals as Montreal made it a 2-1 series at the Forum. And he added another goal as the Canadiens squared the series at 2-2 last Saturday.

Back on their own ice once again, the Wings probably will have the odds with them. They haven't lost at home in 23 games.

But the Canadiens are conceding nothing.

Detroit was in the game only in the first period last night when the score was tied at 1-1. Then Boom Boom went to work and the Canadiens came out of the second period with a 4-2 lead. From there on in it was easy.

Chicago—Sonny Bunn, 153, Washington, stopped Curtis Coles, 152, Pittsburgh, 6.

Cockell Doesn't Fear Rocky He's No Superman, Says He

New York, April 13 (AP)—"He's no superman. He's got two arms and two legs just like I have. I hope to win the title otherwise I never would have come here."

That's the way England's Don Cockell sized up his coming title fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in San Francisco, May 16.

The pudgy, 217-pound British heavyweight boss arrived early yesterday morning from England on the Queen Mary, was the guest of honor at press party at a downtown restaurant, and then departed last night for San Francisco.

"Marciano is a great champion and he behaves like a champion," said the hog farmer from Horam, Sussex. "If I should win, I only hope I can conduct myself like he does.

"MANY PEOPLE SEEM to have the idea that Marciano is crude and rough but I don't see it. He is a scientific fighter. He never throws two punches in the same place. He places his punches correctly and places his weight behind his blows."

Cockell had met—and admired—Rocky when he met the undefeated Brockton Blaster at the signing ceremony here Feb. 25. He never has seen the hard-hitting heavyweight king in a live fight but said he has studied movies of Marciano's two fights with Ezzard Charles.

"No, I can't say now how I intend to fight Marciano," the 26-year-old British Empire titleholder said in reply to a question. "I shall adapt myself to conditions in the ring. I shall make my own moves as I go along."

Olson Looking Beyond Maxim To Moore Bout

San Francisco, April 13 (AP)—The boxing future of both Carl (Bobo) Olson and Joey Maxim is at stake tonight in their scheduled 10-round bout before a near-capacity Cow Palace crowd and a national television audience.

Olson's world middleweight championship is not on the block, but the star of Sid Flaherty's stable is anxious to whip Maxim decisively and put himself into a position to challerge Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title.

The situation is even more crucial for the 33-year-old Maxim. A loss to the smaller Olson, and the former light heavyweight champion will be shunted to the sidelines as far as any future big money matches are concerned.

THE WORD FROM Jack (Doc) Kearns, Maxim's manager, was that his Tiger was in "the best shape of his life" this morning.

"We'll have no excuses," said Kearns. "He's ready to go and I think we can win."

The body-punching Olson, sharp as he has ever been, according to veteran observers here, has expressed more prefight confidence than for any previous match. He has made no secret of the fact he wants to meet Moore for the light heavyweight crown and admits, without much urging, that he would enjoy a crack at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight championship in the near future.

The fight will go on national television at 7 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, over CBS.

Hyde Park, April 13 (AP) — Raymond Barbeau Jr., 14, stepped through a door onto the Eymard Seminary athletic field yesterday right into the path of a 12-pound shot heaved by a schoolmate.

Barbeau, of Poughkeepsie, was hit at the base of the skull and died a few hours later.

Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta said the death "has all the earmarks of a tragic accident." He said the heavy shot had been tossed by John Muldoon, 17, of New York, in shotput practice.

Cockell Doesn't Fear Rocky He's No Superman, Says He

New York, April 13 (AP)—"He's no superman. He's got two arms and two legs just like I have. I hope to win the title otherwise I never would have come here."

That's the way England's Don Cockell sized up his coming title fight with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in San Francisco, May 16.

The pudgy, 217-pound British heavyweight boss arrived early yesterday morning from England on the Queen Mary, was the guest of honor at press party at a downtown restaurant, and then departed last night for San Francisco.

"Marciano is a great champion and he behaves like a champion," said the hog farmer from Horam, Sussex. "If I should win, I only hope I can conduct myself like he does.

"MANY PEOPLE SEEM to have the idea that Marciano is crude and rough but I don't see it. He is a scientific fighter. He never throws two punches in the same place. He places his punches correctly and places his weight behind his blows."

Cockell had met—and admired—Rocky when he met the undefeated Brockton Blaster at the signing ceremony here Feb. 25. He never has seen the hard-hitting heavyweight king in a live fight but said he has studied movies of Marciano's two fights with Ezzard Charles.

"No, I can't say now how I intend to fight Marciano," the 26-year-old British Empire titleholder said in reply to a question. "I shall adapt myself to conditions in the ring. I shall make my own moves as I go along."

Olson Looking Beyond Maxim To Moore Bout

San Francisco, April 13 (AP)—The boxing future of both Carl (Bobo) Olson and Joey Maxim is at stake tonight in their scheduled 10-round bout before a near-capacity Cow Palace crowd and a national television audience.

Olson's world middleweight championship is not on the block, but the star of Sid Flaherty's stable is anxious to whip Maxim decisively and put himself into a position to challenge Archie Moore for the light heavyweight title.

The situation is even more crucial for the 33-year-old Maxim. A loss to the smaller Olson, and the former light heavyweight champion will be shunted to the sidelines as far as any future big money matches are concerned.

THE WORD FROM Jack (Doc) Kearns, Maxim's manager, was that his Tiger was in "the best shape of his life" this morning.

"We'll have no excuses," said Kearns. "He's ready to go and I think we can win."

The body-punching Olson, sharp as he has ever been, according to veteran observers here, has expressed more prefight confidence than for any previous match. He has made no secret of the fact he wants to meet Moore for the light heavyweight crown and admits, without much urging, that he would enjoy a crack at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight championship in the near future.

The fight will go on national television at 7 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, over CBS.

Shot Put Kills Dutchess Youth In Tragic Mishap

Hyde Park, April 13 (AP) — Raymond Barbeau Jr., 14, stepped through a door onto the Eymard Seminary athletic field yesterday right into the path of a 12-pound shot heaved by a schoolmate.

Barbeau, of Poughkeepsie, was hit at the base of the skull and died a few hours later.

Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond C. Baratta said the death "has all the earmarks of a tragic accident." He said the heavy shot had been tossed by John Muldoon, 17, of New York, in shotput practice.

IN SALK TEST, GIRLS GOT POLIO—Donna Greb, 6, Pittsfield, Mass., youngster who received the Salk vaccine last year, smiles happily at school, fully recovered from a mild case of polio. Doctors said the vaccine did not have time to take effect before she was afflicted. Joyce Ann Torrey (right), 7, received a placebo —an inert control substance. She contracted bulbar polio but she is reported recovering at a hospital from throat paralysis.

Salk . . .

tional Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Tentative analysis of last year's test showed, the commissioner continued, that eight of the 94,156 children who received the vaccine in 20 upstate counties last year subsequently contracted paralytic polio. None died.

ANOTHER 94,000 received a sterile "placebo" solution in the tests. Preliminary analysis showed 24 cases of crippling polio in this group.

"Any vaccine that will give us a 75 per cent reduction in a serious disease like poliomyelitis is a remarkable vaccine," Hilleboe declared.

The 1954 test covered first, second and third-grade pupils in New York state.

It is expected that an additional 2,200,000 shots of the vaccine soon will be made available commercially in the state, the commissioner said.

He said he had no authority to state how the commercially distributed vaccine should be used. But he added:

THE EARLIEST starting date so far came from San Diego, Calif., where authorities hope to begin inoculating by Saturday.

The first shipments of vaccine went out to state and local health organizations last night shortly after the federal government formally licensed it for general use. The official approval was given by Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby after Public Health Service scientists evaluated reports on last summer's vaccine field tests.

Opinions varied on how long the vast inoculation job would take.

Houston, Tex., planned to start next Tuesday and hoped to get all its 60,000 eligible children inoculated in one day. In other cities health authorities said the project would move as fast as the available doctors could manage. Most estimates indicated that only rarely would more than a week be required to administer each shot in the series.

THERE WAS no nationwide figure on the exact number of children who will receive the protective shots this year but the final count will be in the tens of millions.

Inoculations for nine million children are being provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which ordered its supplies long before the test results were available. This vaccine is allocated to all first and second graders, considered the age group most vulnerable to the disease.

MANUFACTURERS of the vaccine, which takes three months to make, were reported stepping up production.

Most inoculation plans reported so far were based on the three-shot series used in last year's test. The recommendation that this can be reduced to two shots, followed by a booster seven months later, produced a mixed reaction among local health officials.

The nation's biggest inoculation job will be in New York where 281,853 children are eligible for free shots. Mayor Robert Wagner has said he soon will announce plans for inoculation of children in addition to the first and second graders covered by the nation's Polio Foundation's allotments.

A number of private inoculation programs might be developed.

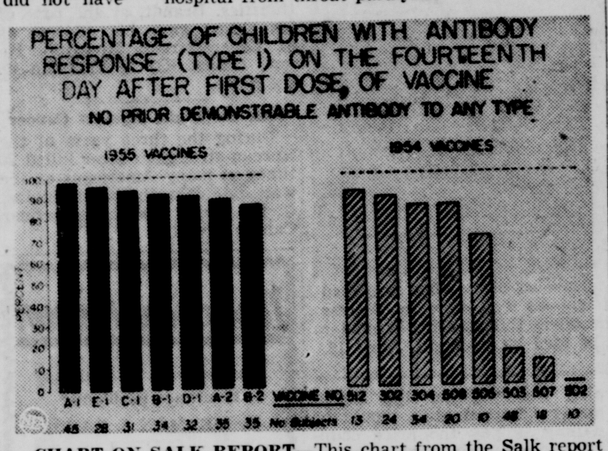

CHART ON SALK REPORT—This chart from the Salk report shows the degree of consistency and uniformity with which vaccine of satisfactory potency in terms of antibody measurements can be prepared. It reveals the effect of improvements that resulted from the experience gained since a year ago.

PREPARE TO REPORT ON SALK VACCINE—Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., left, and Dr. Jonas E. Salk stand on the speakers platform at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., April 12, just before Dr. Francis announced that the Salk polio vaccine was proved to be 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio. TWO NEW membership applications were approved. They were Harry Miller of Spritzer, Passetti, Miller Company, 116 John street, New York city, and W. L. Rider of the Kingston Heating Supply Corp., 503 Wilbur avenue.

In 1954 the first classified membership directory was prepared and distributed. This directory is being given to new residents as well as to answer inquiries as to sources of goods and services. It is being used extensively by purchasing agents and buyers as well as members. The directory provides a direct, valuable service to all members.

Last night the Chamber directors decided to publish a new classified directory this year. It is planned to have it available for distribution before July 1. June 10 has been set as the closing date for listings. Therefore, only memberships both renewals and new, received before June 10 can be included in the membership 1955 directory.

More Southern States Stress Time On Mixed Schools

Washington, April 13 (AP)—More southern states lined up today to tell the Supreme Court of problems they fear if segregation is abruptly ended in public schools.

Three states—Virginia, North and South Carolina—told the court yesterday their public schools may be destroyed unless enough time is allowed to work out problems locally and to win public acceptance of mixed schools.

SPEAKING for North Carolina, its Asst. Atty. Gen. I. Beverly Lake said putting Negro and white pupils together now would bring "turmoil and confusion from which only our enemies could derive any satisfaction."

In a brief filed in advance of the oral arguments, North Carolina expressed fear that "bloody race riots" might follow any sudden ending to school segregation.

The problem before the court is what to do about putting into force its unanimous decision of last May 17 that public school segregation is unconstitutional.

Cat Under Hood

Providence, R. I., April 13 (AP)—William D. Tomasso drove three friends to New York to buy used cars at a lot on Jerome avenue in the Bronx. Returning yesterday, Tomasso became aware that his fan belt was slipping. He could hear it squeak. This morning, he drove into Nicholas Campanini's filling station here to have the fan belt fixed. Campanini lifted the hood and out stalked a Bronx resident an irate gray cat, hungry but unharmed. Campanini adopted the traveler as payment for fixing the fan belt.

Against Exemption

Albany, April 13 (AP)—Gov. Harriman urged Congress today to reject proposed legislation that would exempt natural gas producers from federal rate regulation. In a telegram to the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, the governor declared that such a step would "work a severe injustice on gas consumers" The committee is conducting hearings on a bill that would exempt producers from Federal Power Commission regulations of transmission and distribution rates.

Designer Robbed

New York, April 13 (AP)—Woodman Thompson, scenic and costume designer for the Broadway stage for 25 years, was held up by a lone gunman yesterday in his Victorian red brick home. It is high above the Hudson river in the Bronx. Police said the gunman took Thompson's wallet containing $20, a wedding ring and a pocket watch, leaving Thompson bound with cord on a couch. The holdup man gained entry by ringing the doorbell, saying he wanted to make a telephone call because his car had broken down nearby.

Gets Jail Term

Lawrence Cody, Jr., 26, of 581 Broadway, was arrested at 2 p. m., yesterday by Officer Harold DeGraff on Broadway on a charge of reckless driving. The officer said Cody was driving the car of William Washington, of Sycamore street. City Judge Raymond J. Mino today sentenced Cody to pay fine of $25 or spend 25 days in jail. The fine was not immediately paid and he was committed to jail.

Newsmen to Appeal

Pittsburgh, April 13 (AP)—Six newspapermen and a free lance photographer who were convicted of contempt yesterday for defying a ban on taking pictures in a court house will test the ban through an appeal to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Attorneys for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune Review said yesterday that they would appeal the finding by the Westmoreland County Court judges.

Exchange of Atom Secrets Approved By Eisenhower

Augusta, Ga., April 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower today approved a proposed international agreement on exchange of atomic weapons information among the 14 North Atlantic Treaty nations.

THE AGREEMENT, still to be formally signed by the NATO nations, provides for exchange of data dealing with:

1. Developing of defense plans.
2. The training of personnel in the use of auto and defense against atomic weapons.
3. Evaluation of the capabilities of potential enemies in the use of atomic weapons.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the President's approval of the proposed agreement was made at his vacation headquarters here by White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

The agreement is drafted in line with terms of the 1954 revision of the Atomic Energy Act.

Hagerty emphasized that the agreement "does not relate in any way to exchange of atomic information with anyone on the manufacture or production of atomic weapons."

He added in response to a question that under the agreement no actual atomic weapons will be exchanged.

Ike to Meet Champ

Augusta, Ga., April 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower looked forward to a practice round of golf today to tune up for a possible weekend match with Cary Middlecoff, the 1955 Masters tournament champion. Middlecoff, who won the Masters here Sunday, had left town by the time the President arrived here yesterday for an eight-day work-and-play vacation.

Publisher Faces Trial

Las Vegas, Nev., April 13 (AP)—Herman M. (Hank) Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, faces trial today on a federal charge of mailing copies of his newspaper containing an article allegedly tending to incite the murder of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.). The fiery Las Vegas publisher-columnist, pleading innocent, has suggested the indictment was politically inspired.

FACES COURT-MARTIAL—Pvt. William T. Marchuk, of Norristown, Pa., bites his tongue as he arrives at the United States Court building in Berlin, Germany, April 12, to face court-martial charges of deserting and giving "vital information" to the Russians. He was released by the Russians in January. Military officials say Marchuk went voluntarily from his station in West Germany to East Berlin in 1949. He had been held in a Soviet labor camp at Vorkuta. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Berlin)

IN SALK TEST, GIRLS GOT POLIO—Donna Greb, 6, Pittsfield, Mass., youngster who received the Salk vaccine last year, smiles happily at school, fully recovered from a mild case of polio. Doctors said the vaccine did not have time to take effect before she was afflicted. Joyce Ann Torrey (right), 7, received a placebo—an inert control substance. She contracted bulbar polio but she is reported recovering at a hospital from throat paralysis.

Salk . . .

tional Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Tentative analysis of last year's test showed, the commissioner continued, that eight of the 94,156 children who received the vaccine in 20 upstate counties last year subsequently contracted paralytic polio. None died.

ANOTHER 94,000 received a sterile "placebo" solution in the tests. Preliminary analysis showed 24 cases of crippling polio in this group.

"Any vaccine that will give us a 75 per cent reduction in a serious disease like poliomyelitis is a remarkable vaccine," Hilleboe declared.

The 1954 test covered first, second and third-grade pupils in New York state.

It is expected that an additional 2,200,000 shots of the vaccine soon will be made available commercially in the state, the commissioner said.

He said he had no authority to state how the commercially distributed vaccine should be used. But he added:

THE EARLIEST starting date so far came from San Diego, Calif., where authorities hope to begin inoculating by Saturday.

The first shipments of vaccine went out to state and local health organizations last night shortly after the federal government formally licensed it for general use. The official approval was given by Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby after Public Health Service scientists evaluated reports on last summer's vaccine field tests.

Opinions varied on how long the vast inoculation job would take.

Houston, Tex., planned to start next Tuesday and hoped to get all its 60,000 eligible children inoculated in one day. In other cities health authorities said the project would move as fast as the available doctors could manage. Most estimates indicated that only rarely would more than a week be required to administer each shot in the series.

THERE WAS no nationwide figure on the exact number of children who will receive the protective shots this year but the final count will be in the tens of millions.

Inoculations for nine million children are being provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which ordered its supplies long before the test results were available. This vaccine is allocated to all first and second graders, considered the age group most vulnerable to the disease.

MANUFACTURERS of the vaccine, which takes three months to make, were reported stepping up production.

Most inoculation plans reported so far were based on the three-shot series used in last year's test. The recommendation that this can be reduced to two shots, followed by a booster seven months later, produced a mixed reaction among local health officials.

The nation's biggest inoculation job will be in New York where 281,853 children are eligible for free shots. Mayor Robert Wagner has said he soon will announce plans for inoculation of children in addition to the first and second graders covered by the nation's Polio Foundation's allotments.

A number of private inoculation programs might be developed.

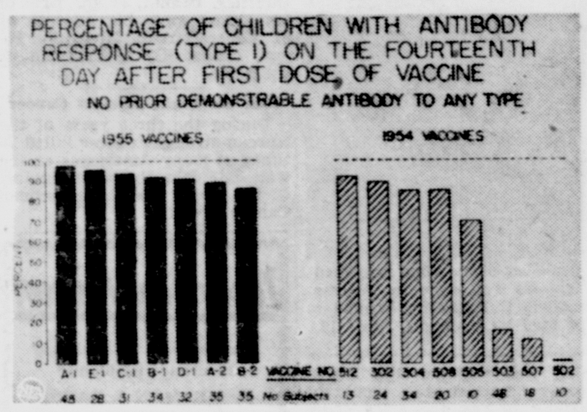

CHART ON SALK REPORT—This chart from the Salk report shows the degree of consistency and uniformity with which vaccine of satisfactory potency in terms of antibody measurements can be prepared. It reveals the effect of improvements that resulted from the experience gained since a year ago.

PREPARE TO REPORT ON SALK VACCINE—Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., left, and Dr. Jonas E. (Hank) Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, faces trial today on a federal charge of mailing copies of his newspaper containing an article allegedly tending to incite the murder of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.). The fiery Las Vegas publisher-columnist, pleading innocent, has suggested the indictment was politically inspired.

FACES COURT-MARTIAL—Pvt. William T. Marchuk, of Norristown, Pa., bites his tongue as he arrives at the United States Court building in Berlin, Germany, April 12, to face court-martial charges of deserting and giving "vital information" to the Russians. He was released by the Russians in January. Military officials say Marchuk went voluntarily from his station in West Germany to East Berlin in 1949. He had been held in a Soviet labor camp at Vorkuta. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Berlin)

DON'T FORGET—Filling out a form—her own or one furnished by the Internal Revenue Department—is well done by Actress Anne Francis in Hollywood. She offers this pleasing reminder that income tax returns have to be filed by midnight, April 15.

Stevenson . . .

and Matsu without support of U. S. allies.

British, French and other foreign diplomats in the capital were reported generally encouraged by Stevenson's formula for avoiding hostilities over the rival Red Chinese and Nationalist claims to the offshore islands.

NONE WOULD say, however, whether their governments would agree to join the United States in declaring readiness to fight for Formosa, if Quemoy and Matsu were abandoned to the Reds as Stevenson suggested they might be under such conditions.

A critical point in Stevenson's plan was whether the Eisenhower administration would be willing to pay the price countries like Britain might demand for such support—giving the UN authority to decide the future of Formosa, perhaps through a plebiscite.

Fuel Tax Distributed

Albany, April 13 (AP)—The state had distributed $2,271,015.45 to the 57 counties outside New York city as their share of state motor fuel taxes for the three-months ended March 31. State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said yesterday that the amount compared with $2,206,237.13 for the corresponding quarter in 1954. The law provides that the counties receive 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the four-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline for deposit in their county road funds. The money is allocated on the basis of county road and town highway mileage.

Brandt Re-Arrested

Wesley Thomas Brandt, 19, who has completed a four months term in the county jail imposed by Judge John M. Cashin in County Court on a petit larceny charge, was re-arrested on a bench warrant from Otsego county where he is charged with grand larceny, second degree. He will be turned over to the Otsego county authorities. Brandt, at the time of his arrest gave his address as 81 Green street, Kingston. He now claims RD 1, Franklin as his home.

Banks Here . . .

strong influence on production and employment levels.

The increase in bank deposits in Ulster county in the two years ending June 30th was 15.0 per cent. This compares favorably with the increase noted for the nation at large, 7.7 per cent, and with the Middle Atlantic state, 8.8 per cent.

HOW POWERFUL a financial force these holdings represent may be gleamed from the following. By using a little more than half their savings, people could double an entire year's sales of food, clothing, medicine and all other soft goods.

Also, they could wipe out all retail inventories in stores by the expenditure of one-tenth of their cash savings.

What they will eventually decide to do with all this money—and when—will have a powerful effect on our economic future.

Convention Meeting

Final plans for participation in the June parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association's June convention here will be made at a meeting Thursday night of Rapid Hose Company in the engine house on Hone street. The meeting starts at 8 p. m.

The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Some friends who live just outside the limits of a small city in another state had a fire and called the city fire department. The fire was put out but they got a good sized bill from the fire department and their insurance company wouldn't pay it though they paid for the fire damage. Is this customary.

ANSWER: Yes, it is usual for a city fire department to charge for trips outside their city area and payment for that charge is not provided in the standard Fire Insurance policy. However for a very small additional premium, payment of those charges can be added to the fire coverage.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
